Amnesty, Truce Added
... PEACE PACKAGE DISTILLED

Washington (UPI) — Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield, in a speech previewed by President Johnson, Wednesday tied together a basic peace negotiation package for Viet Nam, including a cease-fire and an amnesty to protect both sides.

Mansfield said he was trying to put the peace conditions in distilled terms. The communists have a very clear idea of why they fight, he told the Senate, and they also know the "conditions on which they will cease fighting."

Might Spur Talks

To make the American position just as clear to the Reds as well as the American public, Mansfield said he wanted to spell out the basic terms for peace talks. It might also be "a spur to the initiation of negotiations," he said.

White House Press Secretary Bill D. Moyers said Mansfield told President Johnson in advance what he was going to say and that the Mansfield remarks reflected what the President regarded as vital points pertaining to peace in Southeast Asia.

Johnson shares the view that any negotiations should include a "secure amnesty" and a cease-fire, Mansfield said.

An amnesty provision is needed, he said, "as an essential block to an extension of the barbarism and atrocities of the struggle subsequent to peace." As for the cease-fire, it "might well coincide with initiation of negotiations," Mansfield said.

Would Be Added

These two points would be added to the administration's already announced position on peace talks. He described these as:

—Freedom for the Vietnamese people to chose their own leaders.

—Withdrawal of foreign troops from North and South Viet Nam once peace is established.

—That there can be a future for South Viet Nam "either in independence or as a part of a unified Viet Nam on the basis of a peaceful, free and verified expression of the wish of the people in each segement of that region and in general accord with the Geneva agreements."

Stressing that he has almost daily conferences with Johnson on the Viet Nam conflict, Mansfield said the additional conditions he added — a cease-fire and an amnesty—"always have reflected his view and so do now."

Speaking for LBJ

At one point, Mansfield told the Senate, "speaking for the President," he knew that "no one is more interested in what happens in Viet Nam than the man in the White House."

Mansfield also told reporters that Johnson feels the American public should not assume this nation is irrevocably committed to a long war in Viet Nam.

As for the peace talks, he said that a "reflex of mistrust and disbelief" was understandable and automatic. But he said it was important "we do not assume that we are engaged in Viet Nam against a group or a government which has no objective except warfare for the sake of warfare."

When Mansfield finished his speech, he was warmly congratulated by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey. The vice president was joined by Sens. Jacob Javits, D-N.Y., and Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., in praising the address.

Javits termed the speech "an historic and most vital pronouncement."

He said he recognized that Mansfield was speaking "most authoritatively."

Ranking Red Denounces Peace Effort

Tokyo (UPI)—A high ranking Chinese Communist official said Wednesday U.S. offers to begin peace talks were nothing more than a "smokescreen" to cover up expansion of the war in Viet Nam and "blackmail" the Vietnamese people into accepting "humiliating . . . terms."

Peng Chen, mayor of Peking and a member of Red China's ruling Politburo, made the charges at a mass rally in the Chinese capital marking the 20th anniversary of the founding of Communist North Viet Nam.

The rally was attended by Premier Chou En-lai and other top party and government leaders.

Peng's speech and that of Tran Huy Lieu, head of the North Vietnamese delegation to the celebration, indicated that Communist opposition to Viet Nam peace talks has not softened.

Neligh Citizens' Work Pays Off

By JOHN De CAMP
Star Staff Writer

Neligh—Bob Chilvers of Neligh likes to go camping and fishing. But until recently Neligh did not have an adequate nearby fishing and camping area. So Bob and his neighbors decided to do something about it.

As a result of Chilver's interest and a lot of people's cooperation, Chilvers and Neligh have themselves a half-million dollar lake and camping area—and it cost them nothing. Nothing, that is, except some quick thinking, good talking and some generous people.

Chilvers knew that Neb. 14, which runs through Neligh and crosses the Elkhorn River at the edge of Neligh, was to be relocated. And he knew that a lot of dirt and sand would have to be dug to build the new road.

Delegation Formed

So why couldn't the work of moving that dirt and sand also help Neligh build a lake? Bob thought. He contacted other Neligh businessmen and a delegation was formed to see what could be done.

The delegation met with the State Game Forestation and Parks Commission, the State Department of Roads and eventually Gov. Frank Morrison.

By a happy coincidence, the Game Commission was already working to develop a camping and fishing spot in that area of the state. Full cooperation was obtained from the Game Commission, the Department of Roads and Gov. Morrison. The only thing lacking now was an area close to Neligh and close to the new road where the lake and camping area could be built.

Donation

Bob Chilvers had already thought about this. The solution came in the form of a donation of land to the City of Neligh by longtime Neligh resident William Penn. In donating the land—which is ideally located next to the new road, close to the Elkhorn River and with a newly constructed access road into Neligh — Penn stipulated that the land could only be used for the construction of a park.

Fully Dug, Filled

The lake area is now fully dug and filled with fresh, cold water. The park area is being developed orderly as funds are available. The Game Commission has agreed to stock the lake with game fish. Since the lake is located right on Neb. 14 and within less than a mile of U.S. 275, the Game Commission is predicting that it will attract much more than just local fishermen and campers.

Estimates of what it would have cost to construct the lake by a private corporation have ranged to more than half a million dollars.

What does Chilvers, who works as a Soil Conservationist, have to say about it?

"It took the cooperation of this entire community to do something like this . . . but it just goes to show what can be done if a group of people will cooperate."

IN NPPS CONTRACT . . .

27 Rural Districts Reach Equity Level

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Rural electric customers of the Nebraska Public Power System believe that their load last month reached the equity level in present contracts, thus freeing them to purchase additional future power supply from sources other than NPPS.

The 27 rural power agencies in the eastern two-thirds of the state are contractually obligated to purchase up to 261,000 kilowatts of energy from NPPS.

"We think there is a good possibility that we reached that (equity) level during the second week in August," Dil Blatchford of Columbus said Wednesday.

Represents 23 Districts

Blatchford is general manager of the Nebraska Electric Generation and Transmission Cooperative, which represents 23 of the 27 rural districts.

The G&T has taken two separate actions in preparation for its equity month in order to assure rural customers of additional supplies of electric energy which will be needed in the future.

Last June, Blatchford noted the G&T requested NPPS to increase its equity contract provisions by 18,000 kilowatts.

No Reply

When it received no reply to that request, Blatchford said, the G&T contracted with the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation for direct purchase of additional USBR power.

However, NPPS has traditionally declined to wheel outside power purchases to rural customers, thus making delivery over the NPPS transmission grid impossible.

Rural districts are allowed to purchase up to 5% over equity from NPPS without penalty in case the load exceeded contractual provisions Blatchford said.

Penalty Provisions

Penalty provisions would become effective if the load exceeded 5% more than the 261,000 kilowatts.

In any event, no rural customer would be denied sufficient electric energy, Blatchford noted. Rather, the arrival of equity level merely means that the time has come when rurals must contract for additional power.

"We have to make arrangements with NPPS or others to supply additional power," Blatchford said.

"The G&T has already taken definite action to attempt to cover any possible supply deficiencies."

LB764, the new act creating a statewide grid system, specifically permits rural districts to wheel outside power purchases over the transmission grid. The bill becomes effective July 1, 1966.

Bump Baby Has Specs Problem

Grace was born with cataracts in both eyes, the result of her mother's having German measles during pregnancy, doctors said.

The cataracts were removed by surgeons at St. Mary's Hospital here July 17, and Grace was fitted with glasses a month later.

She wears the glasses as an adult does, without the aid of a ribbon to keep them secure.

Doctors have noted that Grace has begun to focus her eyes, a feat she was unable to perform before the surgery and receivng the glasses. They say she probably never will have normal vision, but her sight has improved greatly.

Grace is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bump of Troy.

Assessors Briefed On New Tax Laws

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

State Tax Commissioner George Dworak Wednesday briefed assessors from 23 southeastern Nebraska counties on the property tax penalties and procedures under LB931 enacted by the 1965 Legislature.

A memorandum of uniform notice procedures as well as notice forms under the new law were discussed and distributed at the session in Lincoln.

The remaining county assessors over the state will attend similar meetings Thursday at McCook and Friday at Alliance.

Struck Down

LB931 was enacted after the Supreme Court struck down previous tax penalty laws for lack of uniformity in a Douglas County case earlier this year.

Dworak said the instructional memorandum on procedure and the notice form were developed by his office with legal consultation, but administrative problems could develop.

The new law provides for a 10% penalty of the tax due on omitted or unreported tangible property and 40% on intangible if voluntarily reported by the taxpayer after the March 1 delinquent date but prior to May 31

Penalty Rises

The penalty goes to 50% on tangible and 200% on intangible if the omitted property is discovered and put on the tax rolls by the assessor.

Procedure for the assessor's notice to the property owner and the county board of equalization for possible hearing appeal was outlined.

Dworak noted that the taxpayer cannot avoid the penalty under the new law by pleading "innocent mistake" on the basis of ignorance of the law or negligence in forgetting to report.

Radio Officers Approve Pact To End Strike

New York (AP)—The 78-day-old Atlantic and Gulf coast shipping strike appeared to be broken Wednesday night as radio officers in New York and Houston voted to accept a new contract.

The United States Line 13,000-ton freighter American Crusader cast off from her Hudson River pier, the first of some 100 strikebound ships to get under way.

Earlier, striking members of the International Organization of Masters, Mates and Pilots voted overwhelmingly to accept new contract terms.

Officials of the American Radio Association said votes had not yet been tallied in other ports.

But the sailing of the American Crusader for Philadelphia with radio officers aboard indicated union officials expected the final vote to be favorable.

Study Of Mammoth Water Plan Asked

Washington (UPI) — Congress was asked Wednesday to take the first step toward realization of the biggest public works project in history—a $100 billion plan to tap Arctic water resources.

Sen. Frank E. Moss, D-Utah, introduced a resolution requesting that an economic and engineering study be made by the end of next year.

The resolution also would ask the president to refer the matter to the international joint commission and to invite Canada to join in the study.

Vast Network

The project, as originally proposed by a Los Angeles engineering firm, would include a vast network of canals and other waterworks stretching across Canada, into 33 states of the United States, including Alaska and down to Mexico.

"It would be history's biggest public works program," Moss told the Senate. "It would cost $100 billion and it would take 30 years to build."

The super water plan has been called the North American Water and Power Alliance (NAWAPA) and has been under study by a special Senate subcommittee headed by Moss. It was proposed by the Ralph M. Parsons Co. of Los Angeles.

Major Contribution

Moss said the diversion of water from the Arctic would be a "major contribution" to the solution of water problems in Canada, the United States and Mexico.

"Diversion of millions of acre-feet of fresh water, which now flow into the Pacific Ocean, to the arid and semi-arid regions of these three great nations must come if we are to survive," Moss said.

Hard Steel Bargaining Progress Kept Quiet

Washington (AP)—Steel negotiators got down to the brass tacks of what the White House described as "hard and tough bargaining" Wednesday, but no word of progress filtered out of the closely guarded talks.

"They are having straightforward confrontations on two main issues—that is wages and pensions," White House Press Secretary Bill D. Moyers said.

"I have no indication of what progress is being made," added Moyers, sole spokesman for the negotiations since President Johnson called them here from Pittsburgh, Pa., Monday.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz and Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor were making regular reports to Johnson on the efforts to close the gap between the United Steel Workers' reported demand for a 49.8-cent wage and fringe benefits increase over three years and the industry's last public offer of 40.6 cents.

But there was no word on the nature of the reports to the President.

Students' Dress Must Be 'Modest'
. . . PRINCIPALS TELL GUIDELINES FOR ATTIRE

By LUCILLE HUTCHINSON
Star Staff Writer

"Modest and reasonable" will be the determination of what constitutes proper dress and appearance for Lincoln high school students this year, according to the three high school principals who reaffirmed past policies of "tasteful and stylish attire in keeping with modern trends."

"Our strong appeal is that student dress ought to be the kind considered to be their business clothing," Northeast High Principal Harland V. Taylor emphasized, noting that the "only change is in the method to help us interpret the policy."

Believing that students "act the way they dress," the principals indicated they expect clothes and appearance to "reflect the business-like atmosphere of school" as opposed to casual parties, picnics, or beachwear.

Students' Business

"After all, school attendance is the business of the student," Southeast Principal Wesley Lauterbach said.

Some 25 parent group officers and others met with the three principals recently in a meeting to consider the student dress policies, and "the consensus of the parents seems to be that we are on the right track," Lauterbach pointed out.

One Southeast parent group officer said that students at a separate meeting suggested that "it is the parents responsibility to see that their children conform to dress guides of high schools."

The parent said the students felt those in extreme attire should be approached either by their own parents or school counselors, rather than being told measurement requirements on above-knee skirts or boys' haircuts.

Most Sent Home

It is up to the school administration at each high school to determine what is "modest and reasonable," according to Vice Supt. Arzell Ball. "Corrective measures are decided on an individual basis," he added, indicating that in most cases students are sent home to dress to meet the standards.

"We are not so much against the styles as the extremes," Taylor pointed out. "If a student's dress or appearance interferes with instruction, is obviously different or attracts attention," it would be considered improper, he said.

Judgment Wanted

Lincoln High Principal William B. Bogar declared that "we want the students to exercise personal judgment. We're not after conformity."

Lauterbach also indicated that by strict enforcement of the policy, it is hoped the "natural tendency of good appearance to deteriorate in the spring" will be eliminated.

The policy specifically terms "grubbies," cut-off or "obviously altered" clothing, shorts or slacks for girls, boys' shirts without sleeves, and "too short or too tight" pants or bermuda shorts for boys as unacceptable.

In addition, the policy states that boys' shirttails are to be "tucked in," and, "generally speaking, printing, pictures, cartoon figures, and advertising are unacceptable on school clothing except administration-approved 'local school' letters or symbols."

Thant Urges India, Pakistan To Quit Firing

United Nations (AP)—Secretary-General U Thant and U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg, the September president of the U.N. Security Council, appealed Wednesday night to India and Pakistan to stop shooting in Kashmir and pull troops back across the cease-fire line.

Thant made the first appeal in identical cables to Indian Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri and Pakistani President Mohammed Ayub Khan, in a bid to stop fighting that broke out in disputed Kashmir state on Aug. 5.

Students' Business

"After all, school attendance is the business of the student," Southeast Principal Wesley Lauterbach said.

Some 25 parent group officers and others met with the three principals recently in a meeting to consider the student dress policies, and "the consensus of the parents seems to be that we are on the right track," Lauterbach pointed out.

One Southeast parent group officer said that students at a separate meeting suggested that "it is the parents responsibility to see that their children conform to dress guides of high schools."

The parent said the students felt those in extreme attire should be approached either by their own parents or school counselors, rather than being told measurement requirements on above-knee skirts or boys' haircuts.

Most Sent Home

It is up to the school administration at each high school to determine what is "modest and reasonable," according to Vice Supt. Arzell Ball. "Corrective measures are decided on an individual basis," he added, indicating that in most cases students are sent home to dress to meet the standards.

"We are not so much against the styles as the extremes," Taylor pointed out. "If a student's dress or appearance interferes with instruction, is obviously different or attracts attention," it would be considered improper, he said.

Judgment Wanted

Lincoln High Principal William B. Bogar declared that "we want the students to exercise personal judgment. We're not after conformity."

Lauterbach also indicated that by strict enforcement of the policy, it is hoped the "natural tendency of good appearance to deteriorate in the spring" will be eliminated.

The policy specifically terms "grubbies," cut-off or "obviously altered" clothing, shorts or slacks for girls, boys' shirts without sleeves, and "too short or too tight" pants or bermuda shorts for boys as unacceptable.

In addition, the policy states that boys' shirttails are to be "tucked in," and, "generally speaking, printing, pictures, cartoon figures, and advertising are unacceptable on school clothing except administration-approved 'local school' letters or symbols."

Hard Steel Bargaining Progress Kept Quiet

Washington (AP)—Steel negotiators got down to the brass tacks of what the White House described as "hard and tough bargaining" Wednesday, but no word of progress filtered out of the closely guarded talks.

"They are having straightforward confrontations on two main issues—that is wages and pensions," White House Press Secretary Bill D. Moyers said.

"I have no indication of what progress is being made," added Moyers, sole spokesman for the negotiations since President Johnson called them here from Pittsburgh, Pa., Monday.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz and Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor were making regular reports to Johnson on the efforts to close the gap between the United Steel Workers' reported demand for a 49.8-cent wage and fringe benefits increase over three years and the industry's last public offer of 40.6 cents.

But there was no word on the nature of the reports to the President.

India, Pakistan On Brink Of War

Karachi, Pakistan (AP)—Pakistani forces swept into Indian-held sectors of Kashmir Wednesday and fought a raging battle with Indian troops that continued into the night.

A government spokesman said the Pakistanis captured two posts while the air force shot down four Indian planes.

India claimed Pakistan attacked with at least 3,000 troops and up to 70 U.S.-made Patton tanks. An Indian spokesman in New Delhi said 28 air force planes attacked the tanks, destroying at least 10.

Air, Armor First

Never before in 18 years of often bloody quarreling had either India or Pakistan used air power in combat roles. Neither had they used armor on a large scale.

It appeared the feuding nations may be on the verge of all-out war in the long dispute over the Himalayan state divided by a U.N. cease-fire line into Indian and Pakistani sections.

The fighting raged about 90 miles south of Srinagar, Kashmir's summer capital, and the prime target for the "Pakistani infiltrators" who, India claimed, opened a guerrilla war Aug. 5.

India then attacked across the cease-fire line and occupied several posts.

Mixed Forces

A Pakistan spokesman said the attackers Wednesday were Pakistani-Kashmir forces backed by Pakistan troops. He said they seized the Indian posts of Devaa and Chhamb. The air force claimed its victory over the Indian planes in the Chhamb area, saying they were trying to cover a retreat of the Indian army.

The new Delhi spokesman denied the loss of Devaa and Chhamb. He made no mention of any planes being shot down.

One important question rising out of the new battle was whether fighting would be limited to Kashmir or would erupt elsewhere along the more than 1,000 miles of tense frontier separating the two big nations of the subcontinent.

It appeared certain the estimated 5,000 guerrillas roaming Indian-held parts of Kashmir would renew their attempts to fight a way into Srinagar and that the hard-pressed Indian army was in great danger of having to fight on two fronts—one against regular Pakistani units before them and against the guerrillas in their rear.

In New Delhi, Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri told newsmen the "Pakistanis have come in good strength," in a regular unit attack and that India will certainly meet it.

Report Of Massing

There were reports of troops massing along the East Pakistan frontier with India's West Bengal slate.

The attack hit Indian forces in their most vulnerable spot—a narrow neck in southern Kashmir through which runs the only road linking India proper with Kashmir.

As the Pakistani forces struck, President Mohammed Ayub Khan went on the radio to tell his people that there is "a threat of war in Kashmir which is being forced on us by India."

Referring to the Indian attacks across the U.N. cease-fire line, he declared that "these blatant acts of aggression from India cannot and shall not be allowed to go unchallenged."

Shastri Won't Swerve

Shastri was reported to have decided to pursue India's course of Kashmir regardless of whether he gets international support.

India claims that Pakistan sent 1,000 armed guerrillas into Indian-held Kashmir and that Indian attacks across the cease-fire line were absolutely necessary.

This claim was derided by Ayub, who said the so-called guerrillas were people in the Indian-held Kashmir battling for freedom.

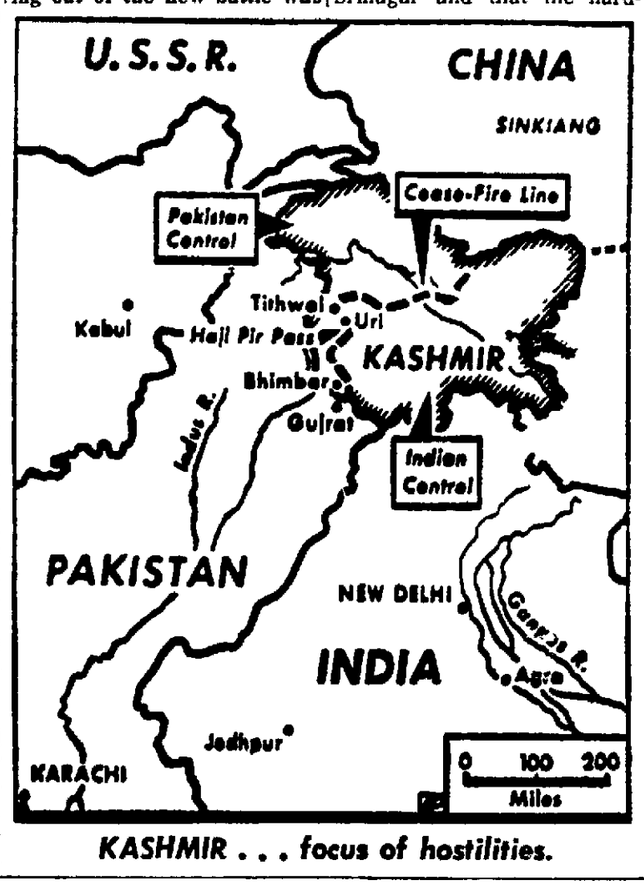

The Pakistani spokesman said the Indians had occupied posts in Pakistani Kashmir and had captured Haji Pir Pass, which is about 70 miles north of Bhimbar and 10 miles inside Pakistan-held Kashmir

Odds On India

In any long drawn out conflict, military odds would appear to favor India. India is a nation of 480 million, has 20 divisions in the field and nearly one million men in its land forces.

Pakistan is a nation of 110 million, has eight divisions and about 200,000 men in its ground forces.

But by virtue of its U. S. military aid, Pakistan has superior equipment. In the view of neutral military experts, Pakistan has the capacity to hit hard and fast.

Speaker Of Aden Council Assassinated

Aden (AP)— An assassin Wednesday shot down and fatally wounded Sir Arthur Charles, speaker of the Aden state legislative council, in a new wave of terrorist activity directed against British officials in this Middle East territory.

British Police Supt. Harry Barrie was assassinated Sunday in similar circumstances.

The British government reacted with shocked concern at the latest killing.

From London Colonial Secretary Anthony Greenwood cabled the British high commissioner in Aden:

The British had expected more trouble in Aden following the breakdown in London Aug. 8 of talks aimed at preparing for a constitutional conference for South Arabia.

The breakup resulted from the insistence of the Aden state government and the Aden People's Socialist Party on a 100% acceptance of the 1963 United Nation resolution urging independence for Aden. One of the provisions unacceptable to the British was a demand for the liberation of all detainees.

Monsoon Season Near End; Offensive Hasn't Materialized

By PETER ARNETT

Saigon, Viet Nam (AP)—The monsoon season is almost over in the southern part of Viet Nam, and for the third year in a row the widely heralded Viet Cong offensive that is expected to accompany it has not developed.

Military analysts are asking themselves if the Viet Cong ever planned such an offensive in the first place.

As in other years, forebodings of torrential rain slicing onto the battlefields and preventing the use of preventive air power led U.S. military authorities to assume that the monsoon period would be an ideal time for the Viet Cong to try for solid military gains.

Fears In May

A series of Viet Cong actions against Song Be and Dong Xoai north of Saigon, and other places, around May raised fears that the offensive had started.

In fact, both the Song Be and Dong Xoai battles were fought under the hot sun.

Much of the thinking about the Vietnamese monsoon is fallacious. First of all, it covers only the southern part of the country.

The highly populated central coastal area, and the 1st Corps region that includs Da Nang are dry now.

And the southern monsoon doesn't bring a six-month endless sheet of rain. There are weeks of sunshine sprinkled through it, and the showers don't usually last more than an hour.

3 Weeks of Sun

During the height of the action around the beleaguered outpost of Duc Co near Pleiku, there was three weeks of sunshine.

The monsoon in the central highlands in particular is fickle. Rain tends to come sweeping through the high mountain passes even in the dry season, and fog hangs low in the valeys.

Any time is the bad time in the mountains.

If the presumption is accepted that the Viet Cong were planning a major offensive in the monsoon season, then it failed. If the Viet Cong were not planning such an offensive, but were just steadily escalating their effort, then this monsoon period has been an illuminating one.

Small Unit Action Down

For example, the Viet Cong have slackened off their small unit actions considerably. Last year and in 1963 almost every night brought attacks in all four military corps areas on isolated outposts and hamlets.

Now a week can go by in a corps without one Viet Cong attack. What the Viet Cong are doing is to mass in large groups in one area, and then attack in force. They may stay around one area for months, as at Duc Co and Binh Gia.

These seem like campaigns to destroy district towns and isolate provincial capitals.

Vietnamese units which moved in to destroy these Viet Cong concentrations have been battered badly. These Vietnamese units move under cover of heavy air strikes, and head back to base after a few weeks.

Viet Cong casualties are presumed to be heavy, too.

The Viet Cong have been able to retain ther grip on the areas where they are campaigning, communiques issued in Saigon show. Duc Co camp still comes under nightly Viet Cong harassment. Binh Gia has been cut off by road since January.

American troops in Viet Nam, sent here initially to guard strategic bases and permit Vietnamese units to get out and fight, are quickly expanding their role to meet the Viet Cong strategy.

The U.S. Marine battle at Chu Lai was one example. U.S. Army elements now in Viet Nam, and those scheduled to arrive soon, can be expected to take a greater combat role this year.

Bigger Battles Possible

This American strategy could lead to some major battles, like none before in South Viet Nam. The U.S. forces have mobility that the French lacked in the '50s.

Future actions are expected to feature far more Vietnamese, possibly regular units. The Vietnamese high command was reportedly miffed at being left out of planning for the Chu Lai action until the last minute.

And U.S. authoritis reason that this is still a Vietnamese war, and that Americans are here only to help.

L. Gordon Cooper Jr. and Charles Conrad Jr. talked hour after hour into tape recorders as they recalled the highlights of their eight-day space journey for technical and medical specialists.

They've been discussing the mission in broad terms since being flown here Monday from the aircraft carrier Lake Champlain. They were taken by helicopter to the carrier after splashing down in the Atlanic Ocean Sunday at the end of their record-shattering flight.

To Fly To Houston

Thursday they will fly back to the Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston, Tex., landing at nearby Ellington Air Force Base.

Waiting there will be Cooper's wife Trudy and the two teen-age Cooper daughters and Conrad's wife Jane and the four rambunctions Conrad boys.

Cooper and Conrad were reported anxious to see their families again— but the reunion will be brief.

Tire Blowout Flips Vehicle; 11 Escape Death

. . . In Latest Seward Co. Crash

By JOHN LEE
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Seward—The gutted hulk of a 10-year-old station wagon lay at the bottom of a deep ditch, its tires still smoldering after several hours.

Bare seat springs and metal was all that remained inside: broken glass and a few articles of clothing lay on the ground.

The 11 occupants of the California car were fortunate.

None was killed, although five were injured in the early morning as the car reportedly blew a tire, tumbled down the steep bank just a few feet short of a ravine and burst into flame.

Recovering in Seward Memorial Hospital were Mr. and Mrs. George W. Kaiser of Santa Rosa, Calif., Helen Wilson of Laytonville, Calif., and the driver, Donna Lee Wickham of Hydesville, Calif.

Mrs. Wilson's two-year-old son, William, suffering burns after being thrown into a pool of flaming gasoline, had been transferred to St. Elizabeth Hospital in Lincoln.

Investigating officer, State Safety Patrolman Don Krall said, "You bet they were fortunate. With 11 of them in there, they could have been trapped and burned to death."

The accident Wednesday about eight miles east of Seward on U.S. 34 came on the heels of one Tuesday some five miles west of the site in which two Californians, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thomas, and a Lincoln teenager, Andrea Grainger, lost their lives.

That is the latest of a bloody summer in Seward County.

Without a fatality the first six months of the year, the county has chalked up nine in the last two months in three separate accidents.

Three members of a South Williamsport, Pa., family and two Council Bluffs, Ia., women died in a grinding two-car crash just west of here on June 29. A seven-year-old Utica lad died in a county road accident Aug. 17.

Unrelated Crashes

The June mishap, he said, was partially blamed on the curb that lines narrow U.S. 34 west of Seward. The Tuesday crash occurred on a straight stretch that has been widened with the curbs removed.

"Many drivers don't look ahead," said Cattle. "With the heavy traffic they must remain constantly alert to possible danger ahead of them."

"One of the problems during vacation time is that people try to cover too much ground in a short time," he continued, adding that there is a surprising amount of traffic on the highway all night.

None of the fatal accidents yielded evidence of excessive speed, the county attorney noted, and he did not put out-of-state drivers at fault, although they are sometimes accustomed to traveling faster.

Cattle admitted that U.S. 34 is not ideal, being narrow with restrictive curbs in places, but "the State Highway Department is doing all it can," he said.

Burt County Bridge Again In Need Of Help

Washington (UPI)—Nebraska's Burt County bridge, which once spanned dry land, needs help again, the state's congressional delegation was told.

Frederick S. Nance, Omaha engineer, was here to confer with Bureau of Public Road officials about legislation which would extend the present 30-year deadline for paying off the bridge bonds to 50 years. Speaking at the weekly breakfast sponsored by the delegation for visitors from home, he asked the senators and congressmen to help persuade the bureau.

Construction of the bridge was begun in 1950, financed by a $1.9 million bond issue due in 1980, but as work began the Missouri River began to change its course. By the time the span was completed, all but the eastern approach, the river channel lay to the east.

In 1955 the bridge commission issued $225,000 prior lien bonds to finance a dam which would force the river back into its old, "official" channel, and to pave the east approach to the Iowa line. These bonds were paid off in five years, but by then the commission was 10 years behind in payments on the original issue.

Nance said the bond holders have agreed to extending the payment deadline to the year 2004, but federal permission is needed because the bridge crosses an interstate river.

He said the bridge now is in good financial condition with up to 700 vehicles paying the 50-cent toll daily, and traffic is certain to increase since it is the only span across the Missouri in the 75-mile stretch between Blair, Neb., and Sioux City, Iowa.

The new bonds are printed, Nance said, and only congressional approval is needed to permit the desired change.

Elderly Milford Man Reported 'Holding Own'

Southeast Nebraska Bureau

The attending physician said Mr. West has shown a little improvement.

He is suffering from exposure after wandering away from the Milford Rest Home where he lives and spending two days in the open before he was found.

Milford firemen credited students from the Nebraska Vocational-Technical School with the success of the two-day search.

A spokesman said that after firemen from Milford, Seward and Pleasant Dale, assisted by pilots and a police dog, had combed the area unsuccessfully, help was solicited from the school.

Some 40 to 50 students responded, spending much of Monday in the hunt.

Mr. West was finally discovered shortly before darkness set in by two of the boys who were giving up and returning to their car.

Lying cold and wet in a corn field, the elderly man was covered with coats off the boys' backs and carried to the local rescue unit on a stretcher fashioned from their shirts, the spokesman said.

Other officers installed were Raymond Bevins, educational vice president; Robert Whited, administrative vice president; William Houston, secretary; Levard Knox, treasurer; and Emzy Thompson, sergeant at arms.

Lincoln Toastmasters No. 403 was the guest club at the ceremonies.

Young Wanderers Are Found After 2½ Hours

Four Lincoln police cars plus numerous neighbors and friends carried out a hectic search Wednesday night for two missing young boys.

The boys, Allen Lempke, 4, and Dale Lempke, 2, were reported missing from their baby sitter at 4717 A at 6:55 p.m. and were found 2½ hours and 1½ miles later at 48th and Calvert.

The boys were found when a lady in a College View drugstore noticed them wandering around and grew suspicious because of the late hour and their young age.

Systematic Search

Between the time the boys were reported missing and the time they were located, police carried out a systematic search in the area, Capt. Robert Sawdon said.

"Needless to say," he said, "we had some anxious moments as the time went on and the young boys hadn't been found."

The boys' mother, Mrs. Robert Lempke, said it was "just marvelous the way both police and the neighbors in the area took flashlights and searched for them."

Mrs. Lempke said the boys told her after they were found that "they were just walking home." Home, she said, is about seven miles outside of Lincoln.

Saw A River

She said the boys told her they saw a river in their walk and she said they must have walked down A St. to 48th and then to Calvert.

"It's almost unbelievable," Sawdon said, "that these two very young boys could have walked so far in the evening without someone becoming suspicious sooner."

California Most Populous; Nebraska Count Up 7,000

Washington (AP)—California is the most populous state but Nevada is the leader in growth rate, the Census Bureau said Wednesday.

Nevada has only 440,000 residents but has grown 54.2% since 1960.

Nebraska's population according to Census Bureau estimates was 1,477,000 as of July 1, 1965, compared with 1,470,000 July 1, 1964.

Estimates of population of states bordering Nebraska, as of July 1, 1965, with July 1, 1964 estimated population last included: Iowa 2,760,000, 2,761,000; Missouri 4,497,000, 4,473,000; South Dakota 703,000, 701,000; Kansas 2,234,000, 2,227,000; Wyoming 340,000, 338,000; Colorado 1,969,000, 1,935,000.

Tire Blowout Flips Vehicle; 11 Escape Death

. . . In Latest Seward Co. Crash

Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Seward—The gutted hulk of a 10-year-old station wagon lay at the bottom of a deep ditch, its tires still smoldering after several hours.

Bare seat springs and metal was all that remained inside: broken glass and a few articles of clothing lay on the ground.

The 11 occupants of the California car were fortunate.

None was killed, although five were injured in the early morning as the car reportedly blew a tire, tumbled down the steep bank just a few feet short of a ravine and burst into flame.

Recovering in Seward Memorial Hospital were Mr. and Mrs. George W. Kaiser of Santa Rosa, Calif., Helen Wilson of Laytonville, Calif., and the driver, Donna Lee Wickham of Hydesville, Calif.

Mrs. Wilson's two-year-old son, William, suffering burns after being thrown into a pool of flaming gasoline, had been transferred to St. Elizabeth Hospital in Lincoln.

Investigating officer, State Safety Patrolman Don Krall said, "You bet they were fortunate. With 11 of them in there, they could have been trapped and burned to death."

The accident Wednesday about eight miles east of Seward on U.S. 34 came on the heels of one Tuesday some five miles west of the site in which two Californians, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thomas, and a Lincoln teenager, Andrea Grainger, lost their lives.

That is the latest of a bloody summer in Seward County.

Without a fatality the first six months of the year, the county has chalked up nine in the last two months in three separate accidents.

Three members of a South Williamsport, Pa., family and two Council Bluffs, Ia., women died in a grinding two-car crash just west of here on June 29. A seven-year-old Utica lad died in a county road accident Aug. 17.

Unrelated Crashes

The June mishap, he said, was partially blamed on the curb that lines narrow U.S. 34 west of Seward. The Tuesday crash occurred on a straight stretch that has been widened with the curbs removed.

"Many drivers don't look ahead," said Cattle. "With the heavy traffic they must remain constantly alert to possible danger ahead of them."

"One of the problems during vacation time is that people try to cover too much ground in a short time," he continued, adding that there is a surprising amount of traffic on the highway all night.

None of the fatal accidents yielded evidence of excessive speed, the county attorney noted, and he did not put out-of-state drivers at fault, although they are sometimes accustomed to traveling faster.

Cattle admitted that U.S. 34 is not ideal, being narrow with restrictive curbs in places, but "the State Highway Department is doing all it can," he said.

Police Changes Deceiving

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

The announced reorganization of the Lincoln Police Department could fool a lot of people. When one thinks of a reorganization, he generally has an idea of something pretty drastic and when the term is used in reference to a police department it can conjure up all kinds of wrong ideas. The Lincoln reorganization is not one aimed at the elimination of any particular evil or abuse.

The fact is that Lincoln has had one of the most outstanding police departments in the nation for a good many years. The crime rate in Lincoln compares favorably with other cities of this size and Lincoln is unusual in having no major unsolved crimes on it books. At the same time, the department here has never been infected with any scandals such as have rocked some other cities of the nation. In Police Chief Joseph T. Carroll, Lincoln has had a man who has run a dedicated and efficient department.

Outstanding Record

Any police department faces a kind of tightrope walk in the affairs of its community. It must enforce the law of the land and yet avoid all signs of harshness. It must be effective in law enforcement, which demands sternness, yet must never be abusive. It must deal with any and all kinds of people and get along at least reasonably well with all of them.

In short, police work is no easy job. From time to time, the Lincoln department has been subjected to minor criticisms on various subjects. It has not been perfect but a city with any better record would be difficult to find. It is doubtful that there is any other such organization in the country more free of political or any other kind of influence.

Why, then, is the department being reorganized? To begin with, the reorganization is more of a juggling than a reorganization. The department will now have three separate divisions under the chief of police—criminal, traffic and services. At least two of these have always been in existence. There has always been a criminal and a traffic division. The services division apparently is new in name but probably not in actual working detail. It will involve a kind of housekeeping operation which doesn't seem to be too clearly defined but will become clearer as time goes on. The rest of the story falls into about the same category. What is being sought is an organization of the department on a firmer basis than has been the case in the past.

The idea is to provide a structural framework in which responsibilities can be more specifically fixed and jobs more clearly defined. The logical result of this is a more impersonal approach to the affairs of the department, an approach with a little more scientific thought behind it. A move toward greater diversification of authority would be encouraged. There are several reasons for this. For one, Lincoln continues to grow and we have operated with the same police structure for many years. This has meant a police chief burdened with every detail throughout all operations of the department, from personnel through traffic and criminal work.

Because of individuals involved, we have had no serious problems with the organizational weaknesses of our police department but individuals change over the years. Too, the wise action is taken as preventive medicine rather than as a cure after a serious sickness has developed. The changes being made are aimed at eliminating any future possibilities of trouble.

The city, also, has entered into a new approach to all its personnel matters and the Police Department is now being involved in this. With the changes made, promotions, for instance, can be handled without the potential for development of personal animosities. A meaningful merit system for all personnel will now be possible.

At the same time, wage scales can be developed that are realistic and adequate.

Pay Increase System

In the past, advancement in rank has been used as a means of giving raises and this simply is not good practice. It tends to dilute authority and to scatter responsibility. Nor does it promote the pride and dedication that might be possible with a better system. All of this is somewhat nebulous, as the reader can gather for himself, but it is an effort to provide the city in the future with a department that is constantly improving. It is an effort to enhance the professional standing of the department and give it even greater stature.

It is not going to mean less money. It will demand an improved overall salary situation in the very near future but it should give the people assurance that they are getting the most out of their investment in this important arm of city government. It should help Lincoln maintain the top-notch law-enforcement agency that it has always had and always wanted.

Martin Votes Strange Interest

Rep. Dave Martin of Nebraska's Third Congressional District doesn't like and voted against the administration's omnibus farm bill. The only Nebraska House member voting for the bill was Democratic Rep. Clair Callan of the First District, which includes Lincoln.

Representative Martin has said the bill is "no solution" to the farm program and that the wheat section is "voluntary compulsion." One wonders what Representative Martin's solution to the farm program might be. The alternative to this bill at this time would be farmers getting what they could for their crops in the market place without any government price supports.

The net result of a defeat of the farm bill would be thousands of farmers going broke. If Representative Martin thinks this is in the best interest of the people of Nebraska and his district, he has another thought coming. No one is particularly enamored with the government role in agriculture but the means of eliminating the government short of agricultural bankruptcy is something no one has yet figured out.

In most respects, the current farm bill is about what we have had for the past several years. However, the new bill will encourage additional cropland retirement while assuring the farmer at least an adequate return for his wheat and feed grains.

It is true that the farmer, to secure price supports, will have to agree to acreage allotments but that certainly beats going broke. Representative Martin is great at political partisanship but sadly lacking in most other categories.

Fulfilled The American Dream

Sport lost two lustrous figures and America lost two great competitors by the retirement of one and the death of the other.

Casey Stengel, ripe in years and with a bad leg, finally resigned as manager of the New York Mets. He will no longer be a prominent figure in baseball although he expects to remain with the game in some lesser capacity.

Paul Waner, a Hall of Fame baseball player, retiring in 1945, died at his Sarasota home. Quite different personalities, both Waner and Stengel had one thing in common. They were excellent competitors. Stengel, more or less of a beloved enigma who charmed the world with his own version of double talk, was a great baseball player in his own right. Afterward he was a great manager. He led the New York Yankees to eight pennants in 10 years. Stengel, a scion of wealth, found his life in baseball, changed his name because of a family which did not cherish baseball. But in some respects he was bigger than his family. He did not rely on inherited wealth to make his name. He made it himself with bat and glove in a field where birth is no advantage, just skill and a winning heart.

Waner was more of a typical baseball player. He was a little too small to be a big leaguer but he more than made up for it in skill, competitiveness and application.

There is one thing about sport. A man must make it on his own qualifications. A poor baseball player never gets there. Only the best reach the top. Both of these men were of the best and in that respect they earned the admiration of all Americans, for they represent the true American dream. We are glad to have had them and regret that time and events have closed out their careers.

Pride Goeth Before A Fall

The continuing struggle between young King Constantine of Greece and his former premier, George Papandreou, leader of the Central Union party is a good example of what two high headed men can do to wreck a country.

The King, inexperienced but determined, unloaded Papandreou who in turn is not strong enough to return to power. But he still holds power over 130 members of the Greek Parliament which is sufficient to block any successor administration the King can devise, and he has already devised three.

The King desires a government he feels he can live with and not lose any of his preogatives. Papandreou desires a plebescite which he believes he can win. And there we have it, two figures, as inflexible as granite, meeting at an impasse which ultimately could spell anarchy for the country. The monarchy, parliamentary government and public order all may go out the window. It would not take much to turn the country over to subversives and that could provoke more world trouble in an extremely sensitive area.

The whole thing is a ruinous show of what pride can do. There certainly is some common ground to which both battlers can retreat for the welfare of their country. Each of them should face the fact that they have descended into a struggle in which neither can win. Obviously Papandreou cannot return to the power he once had and the King must yield to some degree. His untimely action has already impaired the prerogatives of his throne. Both should realize the country cannot go on this way and that if a third force arises each can go into limbo.

Say Russia Plans Atlantic Access

(Editors note: Drew Pearson's column is written today by his associate, Jack Anderson.)

WASHINGTON — Swedish intelligence has intercepted a secret Soviet plan, as daring as it is ominous, to bring military pressure on the Scandinavian countries to sign over railroad rights across Finland, Sweden and Norway all the way to the Atlantic.

The Russians want a concession to use the Great Northern railway that runs through Lap country from Vartsila on the Soviet-Finnish border to the seaport of Narvik on the Norwegian coast. This would give the Russians an ice-free outlet to the Atlantic.

The Swedes learned about the plan from a series of coded communications that they picked up from Soviet military intelligence. They broke the code, translated the messages, and tipped off the United States what they had uncovered.

Whether the bold scheme is merely a contingency plan, to be used in case of increased East-West tension, isn't clear. It could also be a clever hoax, deliberately planted on the Swedes in order to keep them off balance.

There has been disturbing evidence, however, of a Soviet build-up opposite the Scandinavian countries.

In the sweltering summer the biggest issue on Capitol Hill becomes the adjournment date. On this the two leaders of Congress disagree. Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, yearning to get back to his native Montana, is driving to close down Congress by Labor Day.

Speaker John McCormack, on the other hand, insists that it will be impossible to finish the legislative workload until late September or even early October.

From the White House, President Johnson is applying all the pressure he can bring to bear upon the leaders to get several key bills out of the way before they go home. He called in Mansfield and Senate Republican Leader Everett Dirksen the other day to plead with them to pass his priority bills.

He wants them to take up federal aid for higher education next, then the bill to repeal the right-to-work laws.

Mansfield warned that the Senate could never adjourn on schedule if the right-to-work repeal has to be passed. He pointed out that the opponents are ready to talk the bill to death.

The President said he had made a commitment to labor to push the bill, and asked Mansfield to help him keep the commitment.

Dirksen, however, made it clear that the President could expect no cooperation from the Republicans on ending the right-to-work law.

"I am not only going to fight this," he told the President. "I am going to lead the fight."

MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston — Eugene Rabinowitch, editor of the "Bulletin Of The Atomic Scientists," says, "In contemplating the landing of men on the moon, not to speak of exploring the further reaches of the cosmos, the rivalry between groups of humanity becomes absurd. It is obviously an enterprise of mankind as a whole."

Obviously.

We've reached a hand out to the Russians, who are as heavily burdened with space costs as we are. But they have not accepted that hand.

They seem to be still operating on the philosophy best expressed by a Russian marshall I met once at a reception in Moscow. The Soviet Union had scored two year beats at the time: Sputnik I and the orbiting for a week or so of the dog Laika. They were going alternately boastful and secretive.

"If you're as interested in the exploration of space as you say you are, why don't you give us some of the secrets you have about making good boosters?" I asked him, through a high-salaried interpreter named Serge Fliegers. "We'll catch up some day" I continued, "and probably offer to help you. So why not cooperate right now and tell us something about your boosters."

The marshall sucked on his teeth for a time and then said, rather fiercely:

"Wouldn't you like to know?"

These people will cooperate only when the U.S. gets so far ahead that it is no longer a contest. Then they will be happy to join up and do it as quietly as they bought our wheat when their agriculture bogged down so badly that it was either that or starvation.

The only other circumstances that could produce cooperative effort would be some extraordinary missile breakthrough that made Red China a somber menace to both powers. Until that happens the USSR will go its own way, scorning our outstretched hand like the chauvinistic and insular fools their space people are.

They accused NASA of dealing recklessly with the lives of Gordon Cooper and Charles Conrad. They said we launched them in a capsule whose electrical power depended on a hydrogen-oxygen system that had not been properly tested, just to try to take a lead in the space race. Later when the system began to work well, they switched and complained about the "spying" side of the Gemini 5 mission—neglecting to mention that most of their cosmonauts have spent a lot of time flying over the U.S. and not one U.S. astronaut has ever soared over the Soviet Union.

To Your Good Health

Dear Dr. Molner: Am I being overly cautious when I disapprove of people kissing my baby on the mouth? Older children can be told to turn their heads so that the kiss lands on the cheek, but not an infant. MRS. A. B.

Molner

The mouth and nose area, being warm, moist mucous membranes, are excellent breeding places for germs. Or parking places. The nose, particularly, is a "carrier" region for staphylococcus or the "staph" germ, which is responsible for many skin infections and sometimes more serious problems. The scores of common cold and flu and adenovirus germs congregate in the nose, mouth and throat regions. Just drying out will destroy a good many germs; lack of a warm, moist area (such as the mouth or nose) will at least retard proliferation of the germs.

I suppose the reason we have so many mouth-kissers is that some of them haven't stopped to think about the consequences. Some, no doubt, are the kind of people who think that THEY couldn't be carrying any germs. But if babies don't get germs from the adults around them, then from where? Germs in general don't do a great deal of flying through the air. Not for any great distance, anyway. They move from person to person.

What to do about the insistent baby-kisser? I don't know, except to speak plainly.

If some people are too obtuse to take a gentle hint like that, maybe the only answer is to shut the nursery door whenever you see them coming, and say blandly, "Oh, I can't disturb the baby's nap."

Dear Dr. Molner: We have a disagreement about white spots on the fingernails. I say they are bruises but a friend claims they are the result of anemia. I thought white nails, rather than just white spots, indicate anemia. —B. A.

Unusual paleness of the whole nail may (but not always will) be a sign of anemia. Some interference with circulation, for just one instance, can be involved.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is powdered skim milk as good for old people as fresh milk?—R. C. P.

There are two things to keep in mind here: The difference between skim and whole milk; and the difference between fresh and powdered milk.

The main difference between whole and skim milk is removal of much of the fat from the latter. The skim milk has about half the calories of whole milk. Most of the Vitamin A is lost, because that is in the fat. But the protein, sugar and mineral content (calcium is one of the extremely important minerals) remains about the same.

The difference between fresh or powdered milk is very slight so far as nutrition goes.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have very thin red veins on my thighs and legs. Is there any way to keep them from becoming more noticeable, as they are in some women?—MISS J. J.

Dear Doctor: I have broken veins in my legs. Would the injection method as with varicose veins be suitable treatment?—MRS. L. R.

These are called spider veins. It is not unusual for them to seem to form patterns somewhat resembling spider webs. From the practical standpoint, they are a cosmetic nuisance rather than strictly a health problem. All the same, they are the bane of a good many women and of some men, too, although the latter don't care as much.

These are tiny blood vessels, close to the surface of the skin which have broken or become distended and are visible. They can be present in lean as well as fat limbs. They seem to be much more pronounced in people with varicose veins, perhaps because basically such people do not have as tough and resilient a vein structure. Pressure on the vein system from pregnancy can be a factor in development of spider veins, but pregnancy does not always have this effect. Some women who never have been pregnant have spider veins.

One scientific observer has reported that these little veins tend to come and go. When some disappear, others can form. But keeping track of them with exactness makes such studies difficult.

It is possible, although not very widely practiced, to obliterate the vessels with injections like those used in shriveling some varicose veins. It is a painstaking task, however, and has to be done with meticulous care. The use of flesh-colored cosmetics can help, and is probably the simplest solution.

Avoidance of circular pressure on the thighs (such as tight girdles, panties, or round garters) may be of some benefit in preventing or reducing the number of spider veins.

Dear Dr. Molner: My daughter has Rh negative blood and her future husband is Rh positive. I always understood that this causes a problem in childbirth. Recently someone told her that there is no danger.—MRS. W.

I wish "someone" was right. Unfortunately this difference in "Rh factor" can be a potential trouble-maker. Your daughter, if she becomes pregnant, should tell her obstetrician about this, and let him take the necessary precautionary steps.

PHYLLIS BATTELLE

Our Happy Little Push-Button World

NEW YORK — Inventions are things that everybody comes up with in his mind—and almost nobody sells.

Take the three-way car, which flies through the air, rolls along the road and churns through the waves.

"How does it work?" asked inventions-buyer Albert Gelardin of the man who brought him the creation.

"I'm not an engineer," replied the inventor indignantly. "I'm an idea man!"

But every year, some few inventors actually manage to get their creations patented and manufactured. And this year, for the first time in the U.S., we will have an "International Inventors and New Products Exhibition" (Sept. 9-12) at the N.Y. Coliseum. There is still no three-way car in the exhibit—but there IS a car that parks sideways. Also a submarine that flies. Put them both together, they spell what's happening, baby.

The founder of the inventors exhibition is an under-25-year-old native of Alexandria, Egypt, named Roger S. Shashoua. Shashoua shares most of America's love for the novel, new and gimmicky, and promises us a show of, among other creations:

An instant cigarette-maker which allows you to roll your own, with the flick of the switch.

A disposable toothbrush impregnated with toothpaste.

An egg rack which can be lowered into the water, set for from one to five minutes' exposure, and popped-up, toaster style, when done to your choice.

An infra-red iron that heats or cools in one-half second.

Collapsible furniture, including complete dinette sets or sleeping units, which can be stashed away in a closet when not in use.

A canopy door which converts a garage into a living area without destroying the possibility of reconverting it to a garage at will.

A pleating gadget which makes pleats in fabric without sewing; a portable cabana for instant protection against sudden storm or sun; a cocktail table that converts to a crib, for those who want to give up booze and take up babies; a convertible aircraft that rises vertically like a helicopter, then rotates its wings to horizontal position to fly like a plane.

And so on . . .

It's a wonderful world, full of wild new things to invest our money in. As we've often said, life is getting simpler all the time, what with all the miracle mechanisms, the synthetics, the gadgets. All those new conveniences to keep us busy, so busy we don't have time to analyze what's really happening to us:

Now that we have power mowers, we can discharge the gardener and do all the work ourselves. The laundress was liquidated when we purchased the home laundry and the infra-red iron.

The cook had to go because we couldn't afford the electronic stove and her too. The cleaning woman was done in when we voted in favor of the 18-unit vacuum cleaner which does absolutely everything — except the work; we have to run it.

We once had time to think, and to read, but now we have electric shoe-shiners and pants and tie pressers to fool with, and the dacron shirts and shorts to wash out in our spare moments.

Weekends used to be relaxing, but not since they invited those easy-to-do-it-yourself tool kits, those brain-wearing games of logic, those home barbecues . . .

Thank goodness we have our handy home calculator to keep track of where our once-leisure hours are going!

Yes, as you will see at the inventors and new products exhibition life is getting more electric, electronic, expensive and disposable every year.

Some day some smart inventor had better come up with an automated sheep-counter to help us get to sleep nights. With all our miracle, push-button work-creators, we're going to need it!

"Whaddya mean 'you might've known we'd have heavy seas?'—The ship hasn't left the dock yet."

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

The announced reorganization of the Lincoln Police Department could fool a lot of people. When one thinks of a reorganization, he generally has an idea of something pretty drastic and when the term is used in reference to a police department, it can conjure up all kinds of wrong ideas. The Lincoln reorganization is not one aimed at the elimination of any particular evil or abuse.

The fact is that Lincoln has had one of the most outstanding police departments in the nation for a good many years. The crime rate in Lincoln compares favorably with other cities of this size and Lincoln is unusual in having no major unsolved crimes on it books. At the same time, the department here has never been infected with any scandals such as have rocked some other cities of the nation. In Police Chief Joseph T. Carroll, Lincoln has had a man who has run a dedicated and efficient department.

Outstanding Record

Any police department faces a kind of tightrope walk in the affairs of its community. It must enforce the law of the land and yet avoid all signs of harshness. It must be effective in law enforcement, which demands sternness, yet must never be abusive. It must deal with any and all kinds of people and get along at least reasonably well with all of them.

In short, police work is no easy job. From time to time, the Lincoln department has been subjected to minor criticisms on various subjects. It has not been perfect but a city with any better record would be difficult to find. It is doubtful that there is any other such organization in the country more free of political or any other kind of influence.

Why, then, is the department being reorganized? To begin with, the reorganization is more of a juggling than a reorganization. The department will now have three separate divisions under the chief of police—criminal, traffic and services. At least two of these have always been in existence. There has always been a criminal and a traffic division. The services division apparently is new in name but probably not in actual working detail. It will involve a kind of housekeeping operation which doesn't seem to be too clearly defined but will become clearer as time goes on. The rest of the story falls into about the same category. What is being sought is an organization of the department on a firmer basis than has been the case in the past.

The idea is to provide a structural framework in which responsibilities can be more specifically fixed and jobs more clearly defined. The logical result of this is a more impersonal approach to the affairs of the department, an approach with a little more scientific thought behind it. A move toward greater diversification of authority would be encouraged. There are several reasons for this. For one, Lincoln continues to grow and we have operated with the same police structure for many years. This has meant a police chief burdened with every detail throughout all operations of the department, from personnel through traffic and criminal work.

Because of individuals involved, we have had no serious problems with the organizational weaknesses of our police department but individuals change over the years. Too, the wise action is taken as preventive medicine rather than as a cure after a serious sickness has developed. The changes being made are aimed at eliminating any future possibilities of trouble.

The city, also, has entered into a new approach to all its personnel matters and the Police Department is now being involved in this. With the changes made, promotions, for instance, can be handled without the potential for development of personal animosities. A meaningful merit system for all personnel will now be possible.

At the same time, wage scales can be developed that are realistic and adequate.

Pay Increase System

In the past, advancement in rank has been used as a means of giving raises and this simply is not good practice. It tends to dilute authority and to scatter responsibility. Nor does it promote the pride and dedication that might be possible with a better system. All of this is somewhat nebulous, as the reader can gather for himself, but it is an effort to provide the city in the future with a department that is constantly improving. It is an effort to enhance the professional standing of the department and give it even greater stature.

It is not going to mean less money. It will demand an improved overall salary situation in the very near future but it should give the people assurance that they are getting the most out of their investment in this important arm of city government. It should help Lincoln maintain the top-notch law-enforcement agency that it has always had and always wanted.

Martin Votes Strange Interest

Rep. Dave Martin of Nebraska's Third Congressional District doesn't like and voted against the administration's omnibus farm bill. The only Nebraska House member voting for the bill was Democratic Rep. Clair Callan of the First District, which includes Lincoln.

Representative Martin has said the bill is "no solution" to the farm program and that the wheat section is "voluntary compulsion." One wonders what Representative Martin's solution to the farm program might be. The alternative to this bill at this time would be farmers getting what they could for their crops in the market place without any government price supports.

The net result of a defeat of the farm bill would be thousands of farmers going broke. If Representative Martin thinks this is in the best interest of the people of Nebraska and his district, he has another thought coming. No one is particularly enamored with the government role in agriculture but the means of eliminating the government short of agricultural bankruptcy is something no one has yet figured out.

In most respects, the current farm bill is about what we have had for the past several years. However, the new bill will encourage additional cropland retirement while assuring the farmer at least an adequate return for his wheat and feed grains.

It is true that the farmer, to secure price supports, will have to agree to acreage allotments but that certainly beats going broke. Representative Martin is great at political partisanship but sadly lacking in most other categories.

Fulfilled The American Dream

Sport lost two lustrous figures and America lost two great competitors by the retirement of one and the death of the other.

Casey Stengel, ripe in years and with a bad leg, finally resigned as manager of the New York Mets. He will no longer be a prominent figure in baseball although he expects to remain with the game in some lesser capacity.

Paul Waner, a Hall of Fame baseball player, retiring in 1945, died at his Sarasota home. Quite different personalities, both Waner and Stengel had one thing in common. They were excellent competitors. Stengel, more or less of a beloved enigma who charmed the world with his own version of double talk, was a great baseball player in his own right. Afterward he was a great manager. He led the New York Yankees to eight pennants in 10 years. Stengel, a scion of wealth, found his life in baseball, changed his name because of a family which did not cherish baseball. But in some respects he was bigger than his family. He did not rely on inherited wealth to make his name. He made it himself with bat and glove in a field where birth is no advantage, just skill and a winning heart.

Waner was more of a typical baseball player. He was a little too small to be a big leaguer but he more than made up for it in skill, competitiveness and application.

There is one thing about sport. A man must make it on his own qualifications. A poor baseball player never gets there. Only the best reach the top. MRS. A. B.

Molner

The mouth and nose area, being warm, moist mucous membranes, are excellent breeding places for germs. Or parking places. The nose, particularly, is a "carrier" region for staphylococcus or the "staph" germ, which is responsible for many skin infections and sometimes more serious problems. The scores of common cold and flu and adenovirus germs congregate in the nose, mouth and throat regions. Just drying out will destroy a good many germs; lack of a warm, moist area (such as the mouth or nose) will at least retard proliferation of the germs.

I suppose the reason we have so many mouth-kissers is that some of them haven't stopped to think about the consequences. Some, no doubt, are the kind of people who think that THEY couldn't be carrying any germs. But if babies don't get germs from the adults around them, then from where? Germs in general don't do a great deal of flying through the air. Not for any great distance, anyway. They move from person to person.

What to do about the insistent baby-kisser? I don't know, except to speak plainly.

If some people are too obtuse to take a gentle hint like that, maybe the only answer is to shut the nursery door whenever you see them coming, and say blandly, "Oh, I can't disturb the baby's nap."

Dear Dr. Molner: We have a disagreement about white spots on the fingernails. I say they are bruises but a friend claims they are the result of anemia. I thought white nails, rather than just white spots, indicate anemia. —B. A.

Unusual paleness of the whole nail may (but not always will) be a sign of anemia. Some interference with circulation, for just one instance, can be involved.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is powdered skim milk as good for old people as fresh milk?—R. C. P.

There are two things to keep in mind here: The difference between skim and whole milk; and the difference between fresh and powdered milk.

The main difference between whole and skim milk is removal of much of the fat from the latter. The skim milk has about half the calories of whole milk. Most of the Vitamin A is lost, because that is in the fat. But the protein, sugar and mineral content (calcium is one of the extremely important minerals) remains about the same.

The difference between fresh or powdered milk is very slight so far as nutrition goes.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have very thin red veins on my thighs and legs. Is there any way to keep them from becoming more noticeable, as they are in some women?—MISS J. J.

Dear Doctor: I have broken veins in my legs. Would the injection method as with varicose veins be suitable treatment?—MRS. L. R.

These are called spider veins. It is not unusual for them to seem to form patterns somewhat resembling spider webs. From the practical standpoint, they are a cosmetic nuisance rather than strictly a health problem. All the same, they are the bane of a good many women and of some men, too, although the latter don't care as much.

These are tiny blood vessels, close to the surface of the skin which have broken or become distended and are visible.

They can be present in lean as well as fat limbs. They seem to be much more pronounced in people with varicose veins, perhaps because basically such people do not have as tough and resilient a vein structure. Pressure on the vein system from pregnancy can be a factor in development of spider veins, but pregnancy does not always have this effect. Some women who never have been pregnant have spider veins.

One scientific observer has reported that these little veins tend to come and go. When some disappear, others can form. But keeping track of them with exactness makes such studies difficult.

It is possible, although not very widely practiced, to obliterate the vessels with injections like those used in shriveling some varicose veins. It is a painstaking task, however, and has to be done with meticulous care. The use of flesh-colored cosmetics can help, and is probably the simplest solution.

Avoidance of circular pressure on the thighs (such as tight girdles, panties, or round garters) may be of some benefit in preventing or reducing the number of spider veins.

Dear Dr. Molner: My daughter has Rh negative blood and her future husband is Rh positive. I always understood that this causes a problem in childbirth. Recently someone told her that there is no danger.—MRS. W.

I wish "someone" was right. Unfortunately this difference in "Rh factor" can be a potential trouble-maker. Your daughter, if she becomes pregnant, should tell her obstetrician about this, and let him take the necessary precautionary steps.

Note To R.G.B.: The "radiation" from luminous dials of watches and clocks is so small that you'd have to live several thousand years before you could absorb enough for it to be detected, much less harm you. So forget it.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

PHYLLIS BATTELLE

Our Happy Little Push-Button World

NEW YORK — Inventions are things that everybody comes up with in his mind—and almost nobody sells.

Take the three-way car, which flies through the air, rolls along the road and churns through the waves.

"How does it work?" asked inventions-buyer Albert Gelardin of the man who brought him the creation.

"I'm not an engineer," replied the inventor indignantly. "I'm an idea man!"

But every year, some few inventors actually manage to get their creations patented and manufactured. And this year, for the first time in the U.S., we will have an "International Inventors and New Products Exhibition" (Sept. 9-12) at the N.Y. Coliseum. There is still no three-way car in the exhibit—but there IS a car that parks sideways. Also a submarine that flies. Put them both together, they spell what's happening, baby.

The founder of the inventors exhibition is an under-25-year-old native of Alexandria, Egypt, named Roger S. Shashoua. Shashoua shares most of America's love for the novel, new and gimmicky, and promises us a show of, among other creations:

An instant cigarette-maker which allows you to roll your own, with the flick of the switch.

A disposable toothbrush impregnated with toothpaste.

An egg rack which can be lowered into the water, set for from one to five minutes' exposure, and popped-up, toaster style, when done to your choice.

An infra-red iron that heats or cools in one-half second.

Collapsible furniture, including complete dinette sets or sleeping units, which can be stashed away in a closet when not in use.

A canopy door which converts a garage into a living area without destroying the possibility of reconverting it to a garage at will.

A pleating gadget which makes pleats in fabric without sewing; a portable cabana for instant protection against sudden storm or sun; a cocktail table that converts to a crib, for those who want to give up booze and take up babies; a convertible aircraft that rises vertically like a helicopter, then rotates its wings to horizontal position to fly like a plane.

And so on . . .

It's a wonderful world, full of wild new things to invest our money in. As we've often said, life is getting simpler all the time, what with all the miracle mechanisms, the synthetics, the gadgets. All those new conveniences to keep us busy, so busy we don't have time to analyze what's really happening to us:

Now that we have power mowers, we can discharge the gardener and do all the work ourselves. The laundress was liquidated when we purchased the home laundry and the infra-red iron.

The cook had to go because we couldn't afford the electronic stove and her too. The cleaning woman was done in when we voted in favor of the 18-unit vacuum cleaner which does absolutely everything — except the work; we have to run it.

We once had time to think, and to read, but now we have electric shoe-shiners and pants and tie pressers to fool with, and the dacron shirts and shorts to wash out in our spare moments.

Weekends used to be relaxing, but not since they invited those easy-to-do-it-yourself tool kits, those brain-wearing games of logic, those home barbecues . . .

Thank goodness we have our handy home calculator to keep track of where our once-leisure hours are going!

Yes, as you will see at the inventors and new products exhibition life is getting more electric, electronic, expensive and disposable every year.

Some day some smart inventor had better come up with an automated sheep-counter to help us get to sleep nights. With all our miracle, push-button work-creators, we're going to need it!

By ROBERT PETERSON

Many weekly papers are run by talented middle-agers who have spurned the beckoning attractions of big cities and created satisfying careers for themselves in small towns One is Jim Comstock of Richwood W Va , whose weekly "Hillbilly" is a remarkably successful and engaging publication

In a recent issue Jim tells about a tycoon in his 50's who couldn't relax, never took a vacation, worked 12 to 14 hours a day, and suffered assorted ailments, including insomnia and nervous exhaustion

A friend finally got the executive to visit a new doctor There was a thorough examination and the doctor listened patiently as the businessman described his frustrating problems in dealing with stockholder demands, in keeping ahead of his competitors and in spurring subordinates to greater efforts.

"The thing wrong with you," said the doctor, "is that you spend too much time with people like yourself who believe the good Lord didn't put enough hours in the day, and who feel nobody could do their work as well as you So I'm going to give you the address of some folks who used to be the same way

"These are people who have learned that what isn't done today can be done tomorrow. They understand that no man is indispensable and that God made the day exactly long enough They'll teach you how to slow down."

The businessman went the next day to the address given and figured the doctor must have made a terrible mistake. But then he got the point and it proved to be the best medicine any doctor ever prescribed to him. It was the address of the local cemetery

A warehouse receipt must be issued on grain delivered for storage within 15 days after it is determined that the grain will be stored, the State Justice Department held Wednesday.

Assistant Atty. Gen. Homer Hamilton said the time limit for determining if grain is to be classified as storage grain is 30 days after delivery

Hamilton wrote the opinion at the request of Joseph J Brown, chairman of the State Railway Commission

People Urged To Avoid Mosquitoes

The State Health Department reported Wednesday that it is recommended that people should not unduly expose themselves to mosquitoes from now until the first frost

A department report said a study of the available records of the department shows that the majority of human mosquito borne encephalitis cases occur between August 15 and September 15

And studies of mosquito populations in Nebraska also show that the peak populations of Culex mosquitos occur between August 15 and the first frost.

The Culex mosquito can transmit encephalitis to man.

The report also noted that there is no known cure for human encephalitis

Power Board Urges CPPD, Rurals To Agree On New Load Service

The Nebraska Power Review Board Wednesday urged Consumers Public Power District and rural electric districts to attempt to reach some policy agreement over who should provide retail electric service to new loads developing along CPPD transmission lines.

At issue is implementation of both the language and intent of LB764, the bill consolidating wholesale electric activities into a new grid system.

The bill's stated intent is to remove the grid's member districts (including Consumers) from the retail field.

Neither May Serve

After July 1, 1966, neither the grid nor its member districts may provide retail service to new customers outside the district's retail service area.

Service area agreements now in effect between Consumers and rural districts contain a provision which would permit CPPD to serve new customers developing along CPPD transmission lines in service areas of retail districts.

Either that provision will have to be removed from the agreements or new service area boundaries will have to be drawn to meet the requirements of LB764, Board Chairman William Norton of Osceola noted.

Attorneys for Consumers and the Nebraska Electric Generation and Transmission Cooperative (G & T) representing 23 rural districts, suggested that the agreements not be changed before July 1, 1966.

Participants tentatively agreed that the board would probably have the authority to amend service area boundaries even after that date to permit Consumers or the grid to serve new retail customers outside its present service area if rural districts did not object.

G & T attorney Kenneth Olds of Wayne urged the board to "give careful consideration to legislative intent" in approving retail service to any new customers prior to July 1.

"What you are saying is to give all new retail loads to rurals," Norton observed.

CPPD attorney Richard Wilson of Lincoln said he is hopeful that "no such issue" involving conflict over new retail loads will develop between Consumers and the rural districts prior to next July.

Male monkeys make affectionate fathers, even though most do not practice monogamy. A monkey troupe's dominant male usually serves as general father to all the youngsters. He guards them against abuse and will adopt any infant abandoned by its mother.

Lincoln Area Employment Dipped During July

Employment in the Lincoln area dipped by 750 workers from June to July but remained at a moderately higher level than in July of 1964, according to the Department of Labor.

Dominating factors in the month-to-month loss were a labor-management dispute in the rubber manufacturing industry and the release of educational workers as a result of the closing of the regular school term.

For the 12-month period however, employment was 1,050 above July a year ago, with all of the gain in the nonfarm wage and salary segment.

While Lincoln's employment figure dropped, state statistics showed an increase of 7,800 from June to July for a total of 661,000 workers. Agriculture was the controling factor with a 9,000-man increase registered in the four-week period. Drops of 700 and 500 respectively were noted in the nonfarm wage and salary earner and unpaid family and domestic worker.

July unemployment was estimated at 1,850 job seekers, 50 below the prior month, but 200 above the count one year ago. The unemployed to labor force rate declined from 2.5% in June to 2.4% in July as compared to 2.2% for July, 1964.

About one-third of those claiming benefits had last worked in trade. About 23% were former construction workers, while jobless manufacturing workers represented 16%. Former service workers comprised about 14% of July unemployment claimants.

3 Four-Year ROTC Grants Awarded

Three Nebraska students have been awarded four-year, full tuition Army ROTC scholarships to attend the University of Nebraska this fall.

They are: Michael D. Naeve of Ord, James R. Powell of 4200 B, Lincoln, and William R. Wahlgren of Gothenburg.

The recipients were named Thursday by Col. Carl R. Yost, professor of military science at the University.

Each scholarship provides free tuition, textbooks and laboratory fees in addition to paying a retainer fee of $50 per month for the period that the scholarship is in effect, Yost said. During the six-week summer training program at the end of the junior year, this pay is increased to $120.60 per month. The Nebraska recipients are among 400 selected throughout the nation.

JFK Felt War Odds Between 1 In 3, Even

New York (AP) — Thoedore C. Sorensen says President John F. Kennedy thought during the Cuban missile crisis that the odds on war with Russia were "somewhere between 1 out of 3 and even."

Kennedy gave that assessment after the crisis was over and Premier Nikita Khrushchev had ordered the missiles removed, Sorensen says in the current Look magazine.

The article is another excerpt from a forthcoming book by Sorensen, former top aide to Kennedy and native of Lincoln, Neb.

Peak

The Cuban crisis reached a peak, Sorensen writes, five days after Kennedy had informed the nation of the existence of Soviet missiles there and announced a naval blockade of the island to stop further shipment of offensive weapons.

The Russians still had made no attempt to remove the missiles, their ships were still heading for Cuba, and finally an American U2 photo plane was shot down by a ground-to-air missile over Cuba.

In the event of the downing of a U2, Kennedy's plans called for a retaliatory air strike against Russian-manned antiaircraft missile sites in Cuba, Sorensen says.

However, the former special counsel relates, Kennedy had not given the Air Force authority in advance to stage the strike.

"He wanted to wait one more day—for more information on what happened to our plane and for Khrushchev's final negotiatng position," Sorensen says.

As it happened, word of Khrushchev's acceptance of Kennedy's terms came in less than a day.

Two Hours

Sorensen says Kennedy met with his advisers two hours after first word of the Soviet backdown. He said the small group all stood up when Kennedy entered the room.

"He had, as Harold Macmillan would later say, earned his place in history by this one act alone," Sorensen writes.

"He had been engaged in a personal as well as national contest for world leadership, and he had won . . . Yet he walked in and began the meeting without a trace of excitement or even exultation."

Betsy Aims New Fury At Bahamas

Miami, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane Betsy, suddenly a mighty tempest, whirled through the tropical Atlantic Wednesday, aiming its banshee winds at the Bahamas Islands.

American space personnel on Grand Turk and Mayaguana Islands, squarely in the hurricane's path, began buttoning up under the Air Force's No. 1 alert status.

Gales and possibly winds of hurricane force were expected to slam into them and the thinly populated Caicos Islands, on the southeastern tip of the 750-mile-long Bahamas chain.

Betsy's peak winds of 90 miles an hour—already dangerous—were expected to whip to 100 m.p.h. by Thursday morning.

Beyond Mayaguana—whose missile tracking station was destroyed by Hurricane Donna in 1960 and never rebuilt—lay other islands in the Bahamas chain and the southeastern coast of the United States.

A hurricane command post was established at Cape Kennedy. It put the 150-man missile tracking station at Eleuthera and the 35-man station on San Salvador on alert status No. 3, meaning winds of 55 m.p.h. are expected within 48 hours.

The 300 men on Grand Bahamas Island were told to get ready for the possibility of 55-mile winds within 72 hours.

Swells of six to nine feet and pounding surf were forecast throughout the southeastern Bahamas and along the northern coasts of Puerto Rico, Haiti and the Dominican Republic by Thursday.

On Cape Kennedy, the space agency delayed until next week the erection of an Atlas-Centaur rocket that is to boost a Project Surveyor craft toward the moon later this year.

Officials were ready to remove other rockets already in place if Betsy aims a blow at the Cape. Included is the Titan 2 for Gemini 6. If it had to be taken down, there probably would be a delay in the scheduled Oct. 25 launch date.

NU, State College Buyers Likely To Be Deputized

State Administrative Services Director Willard Townsend said Wednesday that purchasing agents at the University of Nebraska and the four state colleges probably will be deputized as assistant state purchasing agents.

This may be needed to resolve a purchasing problem encountered as the result of passage of the new Administrative Services Department law.

Prior to passage of the Administrative Services Department law, LB173, purchases by the University and colleges were exempted from control by the state purchasing agent.

But under an amendment to the law, the Unicameral put the schools' purchasing under control of the state purchasing agent.

At the same time the senators failed to appropriate any additional funds to the state office to handle the extra work-load.

Townsend said the immediate solution will probably be to maintain the present system whereby purchasing is handled by the schools, and have the individual agents deputized as assistant state purchasing agents.

State Department Admits CIA Bribe Attempt

Washington (UPI) — The State Department switched signals Wednesday and admitted that a U.S. spy fell into a trap in 1960 while attempting to bribe a Singapore government security official.

The State Department Tuesday had flatly denied charges by Singapore Prime Minister Lee Kuan Yew that the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) agent was caught and that a $3.3 million ransom had been offered for his release.

But State Department Press Officer Robert J. McCloskey acknowledged Wednesday that Secretary of State Dean Rusk had written a letter of apology to Lee in 1961 because of the incident.

Tuesday's denial of Lee's charges was based on information from U.S. government officials "not fully aware of the background of the incident," McCloskey said.

The State Department appeared to be blaming its blunder on the CIA. Asked whether the wrong information came from officials in the State Department or another part of the U.S. government, McCloskey said "the government."

In Singapore, Lee released the contents of the Rusk letter apologizing for the incident which occurred during the latter days of the Eisenhower adminisration. In face of the U.S. denials, he had threatened to release tape recordings of the CIA agent's conversations with a member of the Singapore government.

According to Lee's letter Rusk said he was "deeply distressed" to learn about the "improper activities" on the part of "certain officials of the U.S. government," adding that disciplinary action would be taken.

TENTATIVE WHEAT BILL AGREEMENT REACHED

Washington (AP)— Tentative agreement on a new wheat program expected to boost income of producers $250 to $265 million a year was reported Wednesday by Senate sources.

Wheat state senators said Sen. Milton R. Young, R-N.D., won Senate Agriculture Committee approval of the new provisions proposing higher returns for wheat growers than voted by the House.

One of Young's amendments would assure farmers an average price of $1.90 a bushel in future wheat programs. They now get about $1.69 a bushel and under the House bill would receive an estimated $1.81 a bushel.

Both the House bill and the Senate committee measure propose full parity or about $2.50 a bushel for wheat consumed in this country as bread and other food.

This amounts to about 500 million bushels with the balance of the crop sold at export or market price levels of about $1.30 a bushel.

The $2.50 a bushel return would result from market prices plus certificates. Millers and other processors now pay 70 cents a bushel for the wheat certificates and under the new program the balance of up to $1.25 a bushel would be paid from treasury funds through the Agriculture Department.

The House proposed that the remaining wheat move at world price or market levels, with a $1.81 average estimate for future crops.

Young's amendment would raise this to $1.90 by government payments if needed.

Recorded Grades Changed Only In Rare Cases

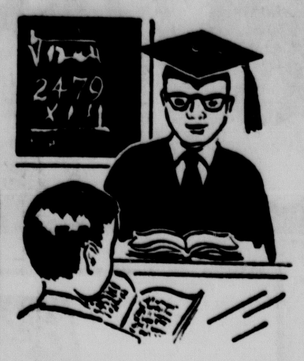

By DR. LESLIE J. NASON

The furore over charges that grades were changed in a Connecticut high school is unfortunate.

It brings suspicion on the whole system of recorded grades when, actually, such cases are rare.

In most school systems, principals have a right to change a grade only when requested to do so by the teacher who gave the grade—and then only if the teacher certifies that he made an error in determining the grade.

This rather simple rule protects both the teacher and the principal from undue pressures by students or their parents for the raising of grades. At the same time, it allows a change to be made when a real injustice has occurred through an honest error.

Strong Pressures

The only exception might be the records of an erratic teacher discharged for incompetence whose grades might otherwise work a hardship on a whole group of students. In such a case the principal, working in cooperation with the superintendent of schools and the board of education, could have the rule set aside so as to right the wrongs.

The pressures in these situations can be enormous. A family whose son or daughter is prevented through a low grade from going directly to a certain college feels that they are losing face in the community.

Good administrators back their teachers in standing firm. In all my years of teaching, only a few parents have gone further than to have the rules explained to them by the principal of the high school or the dean of the college.

Went To Governor

However, a few did go to the extreme, one to ask the mayor of the city and another a member of the county board of supervisors to bring pressure for the change of grades. In one case the parents actually went to the governor of the state, fortunately to no avail. All of the officials mentioned cited the rules and stood firmly in favor of their enforcement.

In no case did I, as an individual teacher, have pressure brought from a school or public administrator for the change of a grade. Yet I have had occasion to request that five or six grades be changed when I had made careless errors in their determination.

While a few teachers may succumb to pressure and change grades through dishonest certification that an error has been made, teachers in general abide religiously by the rules. The difficulties involved in the change of grades have the effect of causing teachers to show great care in their original determination.

Omaha Sunday Closing Laws Rapped

The Nebraska Supreme Court was told Wednesday that Omaha's Sunday closing ordinances are unconstitutional and invalid, and should be struck down by the high court.

A brief filed on behalf of Skag-Way Department Stores, Inc., said the grocers ordinance and the jewelry, clothing and hardware ordinances, together with all other municipal Sunday laws in Omaha, constitute "arbitrary and unreasonable classifications."

Skag-Way appealed to the Supreme Court after the district court of Douglas County found generally in favor of the city of Omaha in a lawsuit brought by Skag-Way.

The brief said the closing ordinances prohibit activities that are harmless and set standards that are unreasonably vague, indefinite and ambiguous.

O'Brien Confirmed As Postmaster General

Washington (AP)—The Senate voted swift approval of President Johnson's nomination of Lawrence F. O'Brien as postmaster general Wednesday.

O'Brien told a committee that a study of the department's use of "mail covers" would be his first order of business. Mail covers are used to check the mail of persons under federal investigation.

O'Brien, 48, received a unanimous vote from the Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee, and Senate approval came less than two hours later on a voice vote. Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana called O'Brien "a worthy successor to Benjamin Franklin" — the nation's first postmaster.

Both Democratic and Republican members of the Post Office Committee praised the managerial and political ability of O'Brien, now Johnson's chief aide for congressional liaison.

O'Brien succeeds John A. Gronouski, nominated by Johnson to be ambassador to Poland.

Between politics and mail covers, very little was said about the Post Office Department. O'Brien called it "a service to the American people (which) at all times should be operated in a businesslike manner."

He pledged the latest techniques although he said he opposes gimmicks and "electronic devices that have not been proven."

MONTGOMERY WARD

...you'll like Wards

Since 1872 the guiding principle of Montgomery Ward & Company has been "Satisfaction guaranteed or your money back." We continue to adhere to this policy. Such a policy is made possible by both the quality of our merchandise and the basic honesty and reasonableness of our customers.

In addition, much of the merchandise we sell today, such as tires, automotive accessories, household goods and appliances, is sold with specific guarantees. These guarantees are an important index of quality. They help the customer to select between different grades of similar merchandise and indicate what we believe satisfied customers may reasonably expect of our Company.

Whenever Wards advertises a guarantee for a particular product in newspapers, catalogs, or other media, the Company will live up to the guarantee as advertised. We firmly believe in the ability of our store managers to deal fairly and honestly with our customers on all guarantees.

Our policy of "satisfaction guaranteed" is, and shall remain, paramount with Wards. Only those sales which result in complete customer satisfaction are considered by us to be profitable transactions for Wards. You'll like Wards.

Daugherty Chosen For Budget Post

Gov. Frank Morrison Wednesday appointed William E. (Pat) Daugherty as budget officer in the newly created Department of Administrative Services.

Daugherty

Daugherty, 53, who has been director of the Nebraska Division of Employment since 1963, will assume the $12,000-a-year post on Sept. 15 through the new department doesn't come into official being until Oct. 1.

It was the last major appointment in the department. Earlier, Morrison announced Williard Townsend as director and John Leuthje as state accountant under the comprehensive state reorganization plan.

David City Native

Daugherty, a native of David City, received his A. B. degree from the University of Nebraska in 1934 and masters degrees from Nebraska and Harvard College.

He has been a certified public accountant since 1958, was employed in the field service of the Bureau of Internal Revenue and was assistant state tax commissioner from 1959 to 1963.

Townsend noted divisions in the department are headed by certified public accountants.

Well Qualified

Gov. Morrison pointed out that Daugherty is well qualified for the job both from education and business and governmental experience.

Daugherty's primary job will be to prepare the executive budget for state government operations and administer the budget as adopted by the Legislature, Townsend said.

Cigarette Tax Collections Rise From Year Ago

The State Cigarette Tax Division reported Wednesday tax collections of $1,019,000 for August, an increase of $131,430 from a year ago.

However, the month's collections reflect a two cent increase in tax rate as compared with a year ago.

August collections were down slightly from $1,056,445 for July. The 1965 total to date is $7,179,386.

$75,000 Sought In Suit Involving 1964 Accident

Virgil Helzer filed a $75,000 damage suit Wednesday in Lancaster District Court in connection with a Dec. 19, 1964, one-car accident.

Helzer alleges he was a passenger in a car driven by the defendant, Martin A. Johns, whom he claims was negligent when the car he was driving overturned about one mile west of Pleasant Hill.

Banking Director Opposes Proposed Change In Maximum Sales Commission

A proposed Department of Banking regulation fixing the maximum sales commission and its payment for mutual investment funds in Nebraska was opposed Wednesday in a hearing before Banking Director Henry E. Ley.

The department is proposing a maximum sales commission of 8½% of the aggregate payments at a rate not to exceed 25% of the first year's payments and 20 of the second and third year on the contractual plans. Maximum contract is $100 per month.

Comparable maximum currently fixed by the Security Exchange Commission is 9% commission with up to 50% of the first year's payment deducted for commission.

Chief opposition to the proposed state maximum came from the Mutual Funds Plan Sponsors Association, representing a number of mutual fund companies.

It urged that 45 states follow the federal maximum and proposed Nebraska rule would thus lack uniformity with the other states.

Also urged was that each company would have to seek an exemption from the SEC to comply with the state rate.

Ley said the proposed state maximum is aimed at protecting the small investor during the first few years of his participation in a mutual fund in the event financial or other hardships compel him to drop out.

He said no final decision on the new maximum, proposed to become effective Oct. 1, will be made for 30 days.

"There is a possibility the federal maximum may be adjusted within the next 30 days," he said. "If not, then a decision will be made on the implementation of a maximum state rate."

Ley said all contractual plans of the mutual companies registered with his department expired June 30, but were renewed until Oct. 1.

Daugherty Chosen For Budget Post

Gov. Frank Morrison Wednesday appointed William E. (Pat) Daugherty as budget officer in the newly created Department of Administrative Services.

Daugherty

Daugherty, 53, who has been director of the Nebraska Division of Employment since 1963, will assume the $12,000-a-year post on Sept. 15 through the new department doesn't come into official being until Oct. 1.

It was the last major appointment in the department. Earlier, Morrison announced Williard Townsend as director and John Leuthje as state accountant under the comprehensive state reorganization plan.

David City Native

Daugherty, a native of David City, received his A. B. degree from the University of Nebraska in 1934 and masters degrees from Nebraska and Harvard College.

He has been a certified public accountant since 1958, was employed in the field service of the Bureau of Internal Revenue and was assistant state tax commissioner from 1959 to 1963.

Townsend noted divisions in the department are headed by certified public accountants.

Well Qualified

Gov. Morrison pointed out that Daugherty is well qualified for the job both from education and business and governmental experience.

Daugherty's primary job will be to prepare the executive budget for state government operations and administer the budget as adopted by the Legislature, Townsend said.

Cigarette Tax Collections Rise From Year Ago

The State Cigarette Tax Division reported Wednesday tax collections of $1,019,000 for August, an increase of $131,430 from a year ago.

However, the month's collections reflect a two cent increase in tax rate as compared with a year ago.

August collections were down slightly from $1,056,445 for July. The 1965 total to date is $7,179,386.

$75,000 Sought In Suit Involving 1964 Accident

Virgil Helzer filed a $75,000 damage suit Wednesday in Lancaster District Court in connection with a Dec. 19, 1964, one-car accident.

Helzer alleges he was a passenger in a car driven by the defendant, Martin A. Johns, whom he claims was negligent when the car he was driving overturned about one mile west of Pleasant Hill.

Banking Director Opposes Proposed Change In Maximum Sales Commission

A proposed Department of Banking regulation fixing the maximum sales commission and its payment for mutual investment funds in Nebraska was opposed Wednesday in a hearing before Banking Director Henry E. Ley.

The department is proposing a maximum sales commission of 8½% of the aggregate payments at a rate not to exceed 25% of the first year's payments and 20 of the second and third year on the contractual plans. Maximum contract is $100 per month.

Comparable maximum currently fixed by the Security Exchange Commission is 9% commission with up to 50% of the first year's payment deducted for commission.

Chief opposition to the proposed state maximum came from the Mutual Funds Plan Sponsors Association, representing a number of mutual fund companies.

It urged that 45 states follow the federal maximum and proposed Nebraska rule would thus lack uniformity with the other states.

Also urged was that each company would have to seek an exemption from the SEC to comply with the state rate.

Ley said the proposed state maximum is aimed at protecting the small investor during the first few years of his participation in a mutual fund in the event financial or other hardships compel him to drop out.

He said no final decision on the new maximum, proposed to become effective Oct. 1, will be made for 30 days.

"There is a possibility the federal maximum may be adjusted within the next 30 days," he said. "If not, then a decision will be made on the implementation of a maximum state rate."

Ley said all contractual plans of the mutual companies registered with his department expired June 30, but were renewed until Oct. 1.

Sanchez Hearing Planned Sept. 20

Omaha (AP)—The Omaha personnel board set a hearing Sept. 20 for the appeal of Jack E. Sanchez, an Omaha patrolman fired for violation of police rules governing the conduct of an officer.

The officer was suspended and dismissed after he shot and killed a man in the Sanchez apartment Aug. 9. No criminal charges were filed against the officer.

The reappointment will be for a four year term.

Bible Removal From Job Corps Rooms Explained

Omaha (AP)—Director John Coakley of the Omaha Women's Job Corps Center said Wednesday officials of the Job Corps do not believe "it was the federal government's intent to recommend any religious document" for its training centers.

That was one reason Coakley gave for asking Gideons International to remove Bibles from rooms of the center.

He said many enrollees brought their own Bibles but for those who didn't, Bibles are available in the center library.

Members of Gideons International had asked why they were asked to remove about 150 Bibles which had been in the rooms at the Regis Hotel which the Job Corps took over.

Gerard Cozette, Gideons Bible secretary, said: "We don't want to make a fuss about it. We just want to know why."

Sanchez Hearing Planned Sept. 20

Omaha (AP)—The Omaha personnel board set a hearing Sept. 20 for the appeal of Jack E. Sanchez, an Omaha patrolman fired for violation of police rules governing the conduct of an officer.

The officer was suspended and dismissed after he shot and killed a man in the Sanchez apartment Aug. 9. No criminal charges were filed against the officer.

Reappointment Of Richling Slated

Washington (AP) — President Johnson said Wednesday he plans to reappoint Theodore L. Richling of Omaha as U.S. attorney for Nebraska.

The reappointment will be for a four year term.

Bible Removal From Job Corps Rooms Explained

Omaha (AP)—Director John Coakley of the Omaha Women's Job Corps Center said Wednesday officials of the Job Corps do not believe "it was the federal government's intent to recommend any religious document" for its training centers.

That was one reason Coakley gave for asking Gideons International to remove Bibles from rooms of the center.

He said many enrollees brought their own Bibles but for those who didn't, Bibles are available in the center library.

Members of Gideons International had asked why they were asked to remove about 150 Bibles which had been in the rooms at the Regis Hotel which the Job Corps took over.

Gerard Cozette, Gideons Bible secretary, said: "We don't want to make a fuss about it. We just want to know why."

DOWNTOWN - - - - - - "THANK YOU FOR SHOPPING AT KRESGE'S" - - - - - - - GATEWAY

S. S. KRESGE COMPANY

Now that school is coming up, a friend of mine asked if his son, a journalism student, could sit in with me some working morning.

He said: "He'll be impressed and he won't get in your way."

I said: "In fact, we just built a new working room on the scatter and my wife would like to impress somebody with it."

The working room is very new. White counters. One Chinese red book shelf wall. A gold vinyl floor. It requires a good deal of cleaning. But I am not supposed to go in it very often.

I went down immediately and sharpened some pencils. The sharpener is simulated rubbed brass—to match the light fixtures. Everything is either matching or contrasting or complementing.

The children came down and cried: "Daddy's in the working room! He's sharpening pencils!"

My wife cried down the hall: "What are you doing in the working room? I just cleaned it."

I said: "Joe's boy is coming over to see me work." She said: "Oh, no! You can't do that. We haven't got the new chairs in yet."

I said: "The kitchen chairs are OK. This is work, not a house tour."

She said: "He'll go home and tell his mother. Why couldn't you wait until we got the off-white chairs with the satin finish gold at the bottom?"

She came down the hall with a can of Ajax and a sponge.

"You've got pencil smudges on the formica already," she said. She sponged around and the children gave each other little smirking looks.

The journalism student showed up the next morning and I took him into the working room. He was impressed.

I got the overnight phone calls and called back on the first number.

The lady said: "I just want to tell your attitude on Viet Nam is outrageous! Why aren't you in uniform?"

I asked: "Madam, I never mentioned Viet Nam. You must have read somebody else."

She said: "Don't you call me a liar. And besides, I'm going to call your boss and have you fired."

She said: "If you're going to use carbon paper, I'll spread some old newspapers around."

I phoned the second number. The man said: "My Aunt Sarah is going on a tour to Greece. Should she take her mink stole?"

I said: "Sure, take it along."

He said: "But they they go on to Russia. Will people think she's a dirty capitalist?"

I said: "Is she a capitalist?"

He said: "Aunt Sarah is well fixed. But she says she could take a sweater."

My wife came in with a sponge and a neighbor.

She said: "Don't let us interrupt you." She picked up the phone and sponged underneath. She said to the neighbor: "I try to keep it clean. But you know how it is."

The neighbor lady said: "I think your color scheme is divine!"

The man on the phone said: "Are you still there?" I said: "When is your Aunt Sarah going on this tour?"

He said: "It's in the planning stage. About two or three years from now."

I said: "Well, maybe styles will change. I'd hold everything up until you know."

I said to the journalism student: "After the calls, I start writing."

The children came in and yelled down the hall: "Daddy's using carbon paper!"

My wife came down with the sponge. She said: "If you're making carbon copies why don't you write in the kitchen?" She said to the student: "Be sure to tell your mother to come over. Next week when the new chairs come.'

1117 "O" STREET

Now that school is coming up, a friend of mine asked if his son, a journalism student, could sit in with me some working morning.

He said: "He'll be impressed and he won't get in your way."

I said: "In fact, we just built a new working room on the scatter and my wife would like to impress somebody with it."

The working room is very new. White counters. One Chinese red book shelf wall. A gold vinyl floor. It requires a good deal of cleaning. But I am not supposed to go in it very often.

I went down immediately and sharpened some pencils. The sharpener is simulated rubbed brass—to match the light fixtures. Everything is either matching or contrasting or complementing.

The children came down and cried: "Daddy's in the working room! He's sharpening pencils!"

My wife cried down the hall: "What are you doing in the working room? I just cleaned it."

I said: "Joe's boy is coming over to see me work."

She said: "Oh, no! You can't do that. We haven't got the new chairs in yet."

I said: "The kitchen chairs are OK. This is work, not a house visit."

She said: "He'll go home and tell his mother. Why couldn't you wait until we got the off-white chairs with the satin finish gold at the bottom?"

She came down the hall with a can of Ajax and a sponge.

"You've got pencil smudges on the formica already," she said. She sponged around and the children gave each other little smirking looks.

The journalism student showed up the next morning and I took him into the working room. He was impressed.

I got the overnight phone calls and called back on the first number.

The lady said: "I just want to tell your attitude on Viet Nam is outrageous! Why aren't you in uniform?"

I asked: "Madam, I never mentioned Viet Nam. You must have read somebody else."

She said: "Don't you call me a liar. And besides, I'm going to call your boss and have you fired."

She said: "If you're going to use carbon paper, I'll spread some old newspapers around."

I phoned the second number. The man said: "My Aunt Sarah is going on a tour to Greece. Should she take her mink stole?"

I said: "Sure, take it along."

He said: "But they they go on to Russia. Will people think she's a dirty capitalist?"

I said: "Is she a capitalist?"

He said: "Aunt Sarah is well fixed. But she says she could take a sweater."

My wife came in with a sponge and a neighbor.

She said: "Don't let us interrupt you." She picked up the phone and sponged underneath. She said to the neighbor: "I try to keep it clean. But you know how it is."

The man on the phone said: "Are you still there?" I said: "When is your Aunt Sarah going on this tour?"

He said: "It's in the planning stage. About two or three years from now."

I said: "Well, maybe styles will change. I'd hold everything up until you know."

I said to the journalism student: "After the calls, I start writing."

The children came in and yelled down the hall: "Daddy's using carbon paper!"

My wife came down with the sponge. She said: "If you're making carbon copies why don't you write in the kitchen?" She said to the student: "Be sure to tell your mother to come over. Next week when the new chairs come."

classmates have reunion

SUBURBAN

areas open the books on the autumn season

Did you know that just two years ago today, former President and Mrs. Dwight Eisenhower flew to Quonset Point, R.I. for a golf and fishing vacation at Coaster Harbor Island, R.I. and did you know that Park Manor residents are returning from summer vacations that took them to all four corners of the world? Well, it's true, and now residents from all the pretty little areas surrounding Lincoln are busy entertaining guests and neighborhood friends as the party book begins to open wide for another festive social season.

PARK MANOR

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Don Falos has seen considerable activity this week as house guests already have come and gone and a party has been given.

First for the guests—they were Mrs. Falos' brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Valentine and son, Paul, of Grand Forks, N.D. The threesome arrived for a brief visit on Monday and on Tuesday the travelers headed for San Bruno, Calif. When the Valentines arrive in California, it will be on a permanent basis since Mr. and Mrs. Valentine and their son will be moving into their new home in San Bruno.

And we mentioned a party. A little investigation resulted in news of a gathering which was held in courtesy to a departing neighbor.

It seems Mr. and Mrs. George Hassing will be leaving Lincoln and Park Manor for their new home in Omaha before September is over. The party on Monday, however, honored Mr. and Mrs. Hassing's daughter, Jean. Twelve girls packed their tooth brushes, pajamas and pillows and headed for the home of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Voss to attend the slumber party honoring Jean Hassing. The party organizers were Diane Falos and Wendy Voss and we hear they planned a real fun night for all of the slumbering guests.

Weekend travelers from the Park Manor area were Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wittmuss and their three children, Jane, Steve and Lynne. The fivesome headed for Scottsbluff on Saturday so that they might arrive in plenty of time for the Sunday afternoon marriage of their relative, Carl Schlaphoff to Barbara Thompson of Scottsbluff. Before the Wittmuss family returned to Lincoln on Tuesday they had made visits with several friends in the Scottsbluff area including former Lincoln residents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard VanSteenberg and family.

TALK around the town

One guest leads to another and the first thing you know you have a reunion. That is what happened when some childhood-through-college friends learned that Mr. and Mrs. George Yetter (Pat Fulton) of Oakland, Calif., were bringing their daughter to the University of Nebraska—and that Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Lampert (Sidney Ann Gardner) and their son and daughter were coming from Atlanta, Ga., were coming to Lincoln for a visit. That started the ball rolling and it wasn't long until letters were sent off to Martha Reed Ford in Long Beach; Mrs. Arvid Frank (Jean Minnick) in the San Francisco Bay area—and to Mrs. Charles Hauptman (Ann McLaughlin) in Billings, Mont.

They all will be here with the exception of one—Mrs. Frank, who is in Europe with her family.

Mr. and Mrs. Yetter and their daughter, arrive today—Mr. and Mrs. Lamperl and their family already are in town—Mrs. Ford plans to put in an appearance on Friday, and will be the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Sterling F. Mutz Jr. as will Mrs. Hauptman when she arrives on Saturday morning. Mrs. Hauptman, by the way, will be accompanied as far as Omaha by her mother, Mrs. E. P. McLaughlin of Billings, formerly of Lincoln, who will visit relatives in Omaha while her daughter is in Lincoln.

The weekend social calendar for this group leaves few, if any, idle moments.

First, for those who were classmates in high school, there will be a luncheon on Saturday at the home of Mrs. Robert Guenzel.

Then, a canape party for which Mr. and Mrs. David Walcott will be host and hostess at their home late on Saturday afternoon. The party guest list will include the entire feminine group and their husbands. From the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walcott their guests will have a no host dinner at the Lincoln Country Club.

The finale is on Sunday morning when everyone in the group, including husbands, will be brunch guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Mutz, Jr.

Since we are on the subject of parties we'll continue with the plans that the members of the Safari Dancing Club has for Saturday evening, Oct. 2. It is to be a dinner dance at Hotel Lincoln.

And this morning Miss Susan Cole, whose marriage to William Wright will be solemnized on Thursday, Sept. 9, makes announcement of the bridal entourage.

For her matron of honor Miss Cole has chosen Mrs. Norman William Wilkins (Mary Quinn) of Ft. Collins, Colo., and her maid of honor will be Miss Janice Walt. Included in the foursome of bridesmaids will be Miss Mary Morrow, Miss Kristin Sinkey, Mrs. Fred Sweet and the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. James W. Brown (Lynn Wright) of Rochester, Minn. Mrs. David Myers, Mrs. Robert C. Dobson, Mrs. Wilbur Andreson and Miss Brenda Brown will light the candles.

Gregg Wright will serve his brother as best man, and the groomsmen and ushers will be Dana and Jeff Cole, brothers of the bride; Scott Wright, Gary Amerman, Paul J. Maxwell, Jr., David J. Myers, Robert E. Campbell and Dr. James W. Brown of Rochester, Minn.

Attending College Convention

Miss Spaulding, who attends the College of St. Mary's in Omaha, was named delegate to the national convention of the Catholic College Students which will be held in Washington, D.C., this week.

Opening lead — king of clubs.

There are things in life you take for granted without giving them much thought. You know that if you drop an object it will fall down, not up; you know that the sun rises in the east, not the west; and you know many other things which experience or education may have taught you.

In bridge you know that there are 52 cards in the deck; that there are 13 cards in each suit; and that each player is dealt 13 cards.

For example, take this hand where South is in four spades. West cashes the A-K-Q of clubs and shifts to a trump. Declarer draws three rounds of trumps and is now faced with the danger of losing a heart trick.

Note that if South plays the ace and another heart at this point, which many declarers would do, he goes down. The finesse he intended to take against the queen can no longer succeed when West shows out on the second heart lead.

But note also that if South plays correctly, he makes the contract. Before tackling hearts he cashes the A-K of diamonds and ruffs a diamond. These apparently useless plays assist South because he learns that West, who is known to have started with precisely six clubs and three spades, also had three diamonds.

It follows that West cannot have more than one heart and that nothing can be gained by leading the ace of hearts. Instead declarer leads the three of hearts towards the king, hoping that West's heart, if he has one, is the queen or the ten.

GUESTS from Austin, Tex.

In Lincoln this week are Neil Unterseher—former tennis champion around these parts, and his bride—the former Jean Louise Haas of New Orleans, La., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hass, also of New Orleans.

The chances are that Mr. Unterseher has not deserted the tennis courts, but his time and energies were devoted to the banjo for a period of time. Mr. Unterseher, if you know your combos, bands and various music groups, was a member of the 'Your Father's Mustache' group that made music and history around the country. But now Mr. and Mrs. Unterseher will reside in Austin, Tex., but we hear that he will not put the banjo away—but his musical talents will take a different turn.

The marriage of Miss Haas and Mr. Unterseher took place on Aug. 13, in St. Louis.

Before coming to Lincoln, where they are the guests of Mr. Unterseher's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Gilbert Unterseher, the visitors stopped at Whiteman AFB, Missouri, where they spent some time with Mr. Unterseher's brother-in-law and sister, Lt. and Mrs. Gary Duncan (Elaine Unterseher).

Evening Service

Miss Janet Bailey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Victor Bailey of Grinnell, Iowa, became the bride of Robert W. Haller, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Wrey Haller, at a candlelight service solemnized Friday evening, Aug. 27. The Rev. Chester E. Custer read the lines of the 7:30 o'clock ceremony at the First Methodist Church in Grinnell.

Frocked in sheaths of pink crepe were Mrs. Ernest A. Aller, Jr., of Des Moines, who was her sister's matron of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Betty Strand and Miss Virginia Renaud, both of Grinnell.

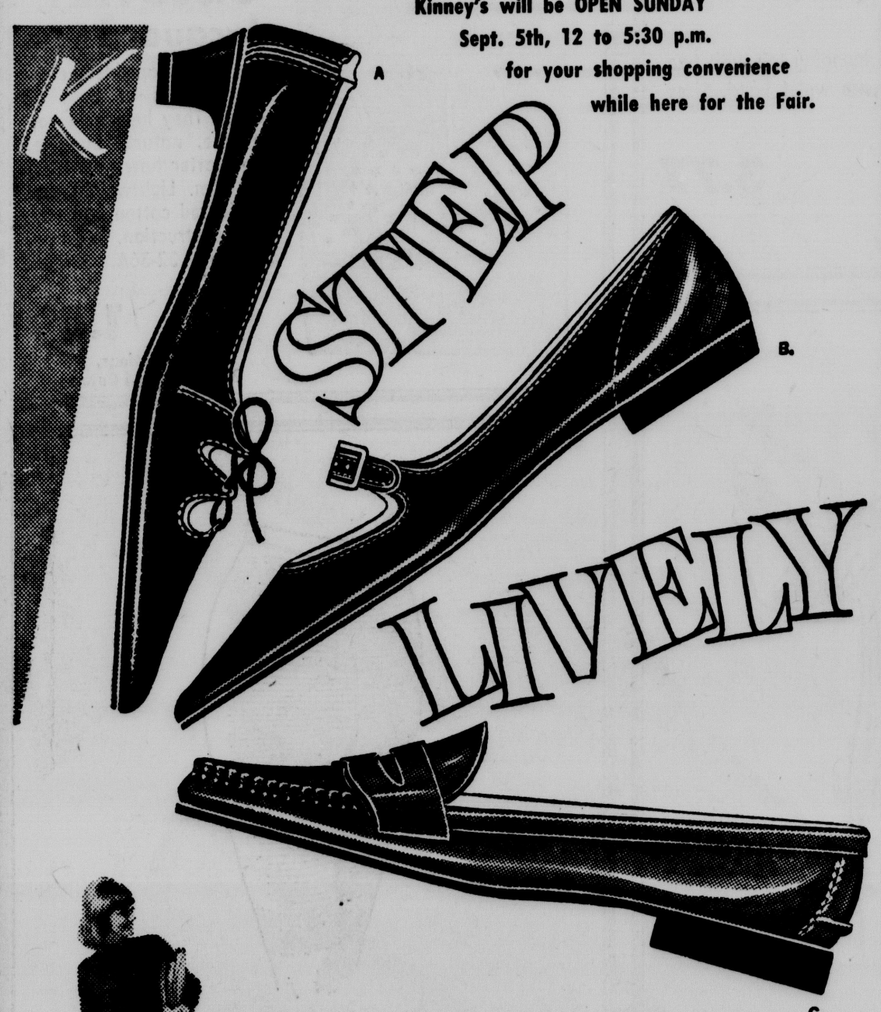

Sam Seevers of Lincoln, served as best man, and the ushers were Roy Bridge, Bud Jordan, and Roger Bunderson, Lincoln; Dan Agnew and Rick Thoren, Grinnell; and Ernest E. Aller, Jr., Des Moines.

The bride's gown of white silk organza was trimmed with petal appliques of embroidered organza. The applique motif framed the rounding neckline of the basque, and was repeated on the sheath skirt, which was completed by a panel train of the silk.

The couple will live in Lincoln, at 2035 So. 50th. A former student at Nebraska Wesleyan University, where she is a member of Alpha Gamma Delta, the bride attends Bryan Hospital School of Nursing. A graduate of Nebraska Wesleyan University and a member of Phi Kappa Tau, Mr. Haller is music instructor in the Ceresco School.

ABBY

don't condone behavior, but show him you care

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I know I'm not the only wife with this problem, so maybe if you printed this your answer could help countless others. I've been married for over 25 years. My husband and I are both over 50. We have children and grandchildren. The problem, of course, is my husband. He's good-looking, young-looking, in excellent health, and a hopeless woman chaser. (Not that he would be hard to catch.)

He makes no secret of his escapades, expecting me to forgive and forget and not to take them seriously. He says none of these affairs is serious and he "loves" only me. I'm not afraid of "losing him, but I'm humiliated. I see no end to his behavior. I must admit he is kind, considerate, a good provider (though I work, too) and I do love him in spite of everything. What to do? Divorce him and live a lonely, unhappy life? Or just wait for old age?

EVE

DEAR EVE: DON'T divorce him — but don't condone his behavior, either. Every time he steps out of line, raise the roof and let him know you are hurt, disgusted and humiliated. Punish him a little by being cool to him, but don't banish him to the couch or he'll have a good excuse to find a more comfortable bed. Many men stray because they really believe their wives don't care enough. Show him you care plenty. What do you have to lose?

DEAR ABBY: When a boy breaks up with a girl, does he have to give her a reason? Please print this as many other girls would like to know the answer, too.

WENT STEADY

DEAR WENT: No. And if the girl is wise, she won't ask. The reason is obvious. He doesn't want to go steady with HER any more.

GUESTS
from Austin, Tex.

In Lincoln this week are Neil Unterseher—former tennis champion around these parts, and his bride—the former Jean Louise Haas of New Orleans, La., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hass, also of New Orleans.

The chances are that Mr. Unterseher has not deserted the tennis courts, but his time and energies were devoted to the banjo for a period of time. Mr. Unterseher, if you know your combos, bands and various music groups, was a member of the 'Your Father's Mustache' group that made music and history around the country. But now Mr. and Mrs. Unterseher will reside in Austin, Tex., but we hear that he will not put the banjo away—but his musical talents will take a different turn.

Before coming to Lincoln, where they are the guests of Mr. Unterseher's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Gilbert Unterseher, the visitors stopped at Whiteman AFB, Missouri, where they spent some time with Mr. Unterseher's brother-in-law and sister, Lt. and Mrs. Gary Duncan (Elaine Unterseher).

TALK
around the town

One guest leads to another and the first thing you know you have a reunion That is what happened when some childhood-through-college friends learned that Mr. and Mrs. George Yetter (Pat Fulton) of Oakland, Calif., were bringing their daughter to the University of Nebraska—and that Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Lampert (Sidney Ann Gardner) and their son and daughter were coming from Atlanta, Ga., were coming to Lincoln for a visit. That started the ball rolling and it wasn't long until letters were sent off to Martha Reed Ford in Long Beach; Mrs. Arvid Frank (Jean Minnick) in the San Francisco Bay area—and to Mrs. Charles Hauptman (Ann McLaughlin) in Billings, Mont.

They all will be here with the exception of one—Mrs. Frank, who is in Europe with her family.

Mr. and Mrs. Yetter and their daughter, arrive today—Mr. and Mrs. Lamperl and their family already are in town—Mrs. Ford plans to put in an appearance on Friday, and will be the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Sterling F. Mutz Jr. as will Mrs Hauptman when she arrives on Saturday morning. Mrs. Hauptman, by the way, will be accompanied as far as Omaha by her mother, Mrs. E. P. McLaughlin of Billings, formerly of Lincoln, who will visit relatives in Omaha while her daughter is in Lincoln.

The weekend social calendar for this group leaves few, if any, idle moments.

First, for those who were classmates in high school, there will be a luncheon on Saturday at the home of Mrs. Robert Guenzel.

Then, a canape party for which Mr. and Mrs. David Walcott will be host and hostess at their home late on Saturday afternoon. The party guest list will include the entire feminine group and their husbands. From the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walcott their guests will have a no host dinner at the Lincoln Country Club.

The finale is on Sunday morning when everyone in the group, including husbands, will be brunch guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Mutz, Jr.

Since we are on the subject of parties we'll continue with the plans that the members of the Safari Dancing Club has for Saturday evening, Oct 2 It is to be a dinner dance at Hotel Lincoln

And this morning Miss Susan Cole, whose marriage to William Wright will be solemnized on Thursday, Sept. 9, makes announcement of the bridal entourage

For her matron of honor Miss Cole has chosen Mrs. Norman William Wilkins (Mary Quinn) of Ft Collins, Colo., and her maid of honor will be Miss Janice Walt. Included in the foursome of bridesmaids will be Miss Mary Morrow, Miss Kristin Sinkey, Mrs. Fred Sweet and the bridegroom's sister, Mrs James W. Brown (Lynn Wright) of Rochester, Minn. Mrs. David Myers, Mrs. Robert C Dobson, Mrs. Wilbur Andreson and Miss Brenda Brown will light the candles

Gregg Wright will serve his brother as best man, and the groomsmen and ushers will be Dana and Jeff Cole, brothers of the bride; Scott Wright, Gary Amerman, Paul J. Maxwell, Jr, David J. Myers, Robert E. Campbell and Dr. James W. Brown of Rochester, Minn.

Attending College Convention

Miss Spaulding who attends the College of St Mary's in Omaha was named delegate to the national convention of the Catholic College Students which will be held in Washington, D C., this week.

Opening lead — king of clubs.

There are things in life you take for granted without giving them much thought You know that if you drop an object it will fall down not up, you know that the sun rises in the east, not the west; and you know many other things which experience or education may have taught you.

In bridge you know that there are 52 cards in the deck; that there are 13 cards in each suit, and that each player is dealt 13 cards

For example take this hand where South is in four spades West cashes the A-K-Q of clubs and shifts to a trump. Declarer draws three rounds of trumps and is now faced with the danger of losing a heart trick.

Note that if South plays the ace and another heart at this point, which many declarers would do, he goes down. The finesse he intended to take against the queen can no longer succeed when West shows out on the second heart lead

But note also that if South plays correctly, he makes the contract. Before tackling hearts he cashes the A-K of diamonds and ruffs a diamond These apparently useless plays assist South because he learns that West, who is known to have started with precisely six clubs and three spades also had three diamonds

It follows that West cannot have more than one heart and that nothing can be gained by leading the ace of hearts. Instead declarer leads the three of hearts towards the king, hoping that West's heart, if he has one, is the queen or the ten.

Evening Service

Miss Janet Bailey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Victor Bailey of Grinnell, Iowa, became the bride of Robert W. Haller, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Wrey Haller, at a candlelight service solemnized Friday evening, Aug. 27. The Rev. Chester E. Custer read the lines of the 7:30 o'clock ceremony at the First Methodist Church in Grinnell.

Frocked in sheaths of pink crepe were Mrs. Ernest A. Aller, Jr., of Des Moines, who was her sister's matron of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Betty Strand and Miss Virginia Renaud, both of Grinnell

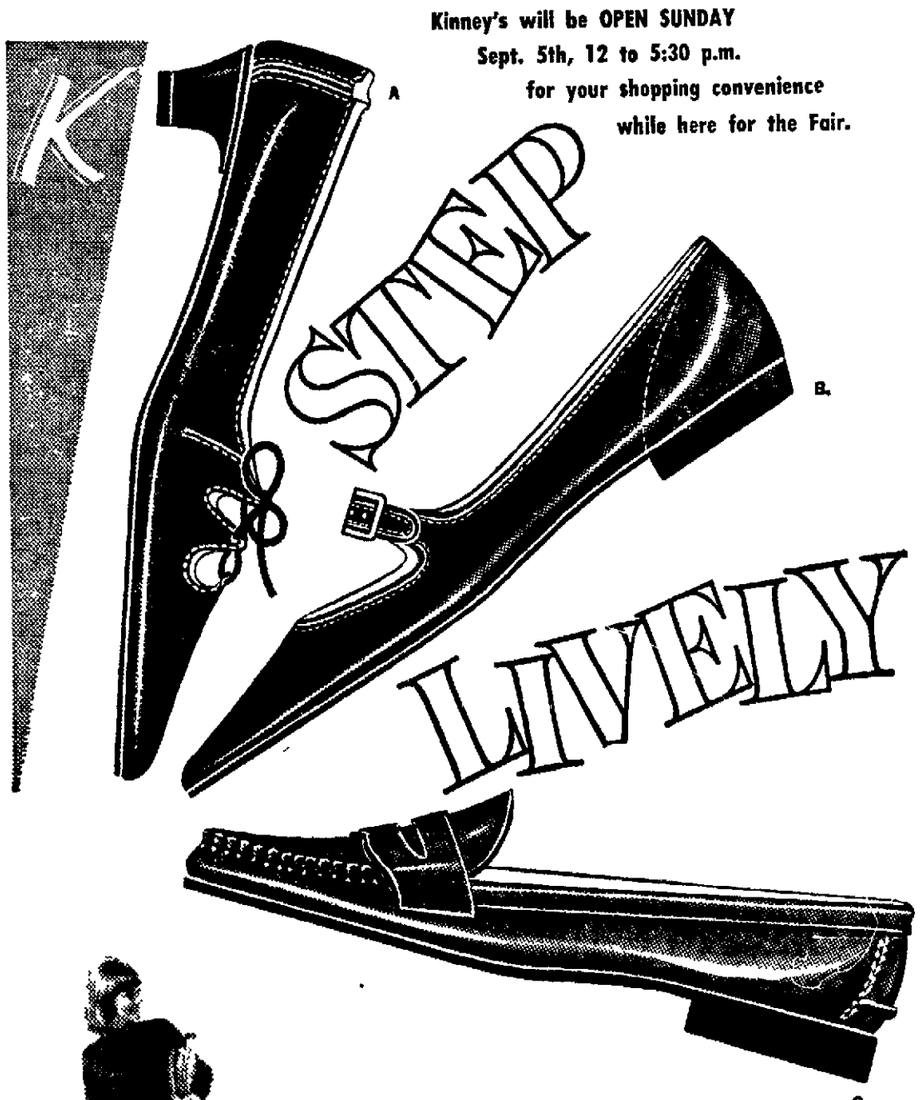

Sam Seevers of Lincoln, served as best man, and the ushers were Roy Bridge, Bud Jordan, and Roger Bunderson, Lincoln; Dan Agnew and Rick Thoren, Grinnell; and Ernest E. Aller, Jr., Des Moines.

The bride's gown of white silk organza was trimmed with petal appliques of embroidered organza The applique motif framed the rounding neckline of the basque, and was repeated on the sheath skirt, which was completed by a panel train of the silk.

The couple will live in Lincoln, at 2035 So. 50th. A former student at Nebraska Wesleyan University, where she is a member of Alpha Gamma Delta, the bride attends Bryan Hospital School of Nursing. A graduate of Nebraska Wesleyan University and a member of Phi Kappa Tau, Mr. Haller is music instructor in the Ceresco School.

Chicago Is King Target

Atlanta (UPI) — Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. has decided to make Chicago a major target of a "nonviolent" school integration campaign, it was disclosed Wednesday.

King has sent a 10-man advance team to the Windy City under supervision of one of his most militant street demonstration leaders, the Rev. James Bevel.

King's Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC) will work in conjunction with the Coordinating Council of Community Organizations (CCCO) in Chicago.

The Negro leader promised the CCCO his "personal support and the support of the SCLC" in a major drive to break down what Negroes have charged is massive de facto segregation of schools in Chicago.

King did not disclose when or if he will go to Chicago to take personal charge of the new drive outside the South. He led a march of an estimated 30,000 there July 26 to press a demand for "quality integrated education."

One of the main targets of Negro groups in Chicago has been the superintendent of schools, Dr. Benjamin Willis, an administrator who has insisted on maintaining the neighborhood concept of public schools.

This summer has produced racial tensions and violence over the school issue.

The SCLC said the organization's "future involvement" in Chicago will be discussed Thursday in a private meeting between King and Al Rady, head of the CCCO, which is an amalgamation of Chicago racial groups. The meeting will be in Atlanta.

PLYMOUTH POLICE MAKE ARRESTS

Plymouth, N.C. (AP)—Massed police made more arrests Wednesday as they sought to relieve racial tensions which Plymouth authorities blamed on the Ku Klux Klan and out-of-town thrill seekers.

Meanwhile, a national civil rights leader said demonstrations are likely in many other communities of North Carolina, a Southern state with a record of good race relations.

Six persons have been picked up by officers since two white men were wounded in a street clash between white men and Negroes Tuesday night.

The tensions grew out of Negro voter registration demonstrations which began more than two weeks ago in this fishing and paper mill town of 5,000 in eastern North Carolina.

The violence was touched off Wednesday night for the second time in a week when a group of Negroes walked past a crowd of white persons on the main street. A few minutes earlier, Negro leaders, fearing trouble had called off a protest march.

In Durham, Floyd McKissick, national chairman of the Congress of Racial Equality, told the Associated Press:

"When Plymouth stops, it's going to be another town—you pick it . . . There are dozens of Plymouths in North Carolina."

Other Issues

The CORE official said that there were other issues at Plymouth beside voter registration. He listed among them "unemployment, schools, insults heaped upon the people daily, no enforcement of the public accommodations law."

Integration of schools in the Plymouth area began last week without incident.

F. H. Lagarde of Edenton, a civil rights leader, said that he and the chairman of North Carolina's Good Neighbor Council, D. S. Coltrane, agreed that the situation in Plymouth "has reached a crisis and that good faith negotiations should be resumed."

Coltrane later announced formation of the Washington-Plymouth Human Relations Council. He said the 19-member council would be headed by the Rev. Robert Holt, a white Episcopal minister based in Plymouth.

"The only power we have is to listen and communicate," Coltrane said in announcing the move. He said the council would consist of 10 white persons and nine Negroes.

The Rev. Mr. Holt is pastor of a white church in Plymouth and also serves a white and Negro church in nearby Roper.

Police Chief P. W. Brown said, "If the Klan and other outsiders would stay out of Plymouth, we could handle the situation. I am satisifed Klansmen were in the street crowd last night."

Plymouth's mayor, W. R. Flowers, put the blame on "curious thrill seekers from outside Plymouth. I would say that less than five per cent of those on the streets Tuesday night were from Plymouth."

More than 100 law enforcement officers, including some 50 state troopers, massed in the area Wednesday.

Troubled City Integrates

Bogalusa, La. (AP) — After a summer of violent racial turmoil, public schools in this troubled southeast Louisiana mill town were integrated quietly and peacefully Wednesday.

Two Negro boys and a girl, arriving alone on a school bus, entered Bogalusa Senior High School along with nearly 900 white pupils. Police kept curious whites two blocks away.

No spectators and only a few police were at Columbia Street Elementary School when a Negro boy and girl, clasping their mothers' hands, arrived by private car.

Desegregation of first and 12th grade classes was ordered earlier this month by a federal judge at New Orleans.

This town's Roman Catholic school, Annunciation, also desegregated, enrolling five Negro elementary students.

The classroom mixing followed a pattern set over much of the Deep South earlier this week as thousands of Negroes entered previously all white schools for the first time.

At Jackson, Miss., 123 Negro pupils registered Wednesday in grades 1, 2 and 3. Another 21 Negroes enrolled the previous day at the Mississippi city's three formerly all white high schools. Only the first grade was integrated last year.

More than 300 Negroes were admitted to desegregated classes at Greenville and Charleston Counties, South Carolina. It was the start of the third year of integration at Charleston and the second at Greenville.

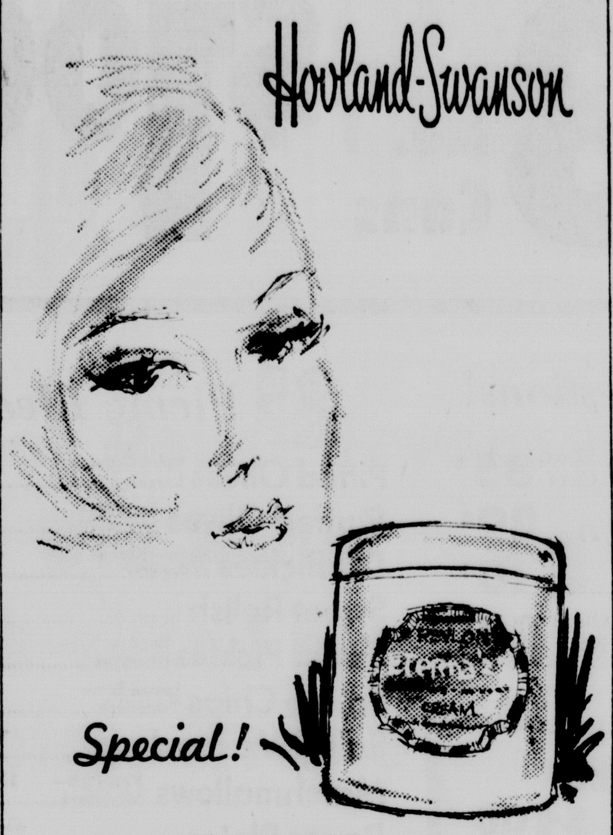

LBJ Rehires Taylor As Special Consultant

Washington (AP) — President Johnson announced Wednesday night Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor has complied with an "urgent request" to serve as a special consultant to the President and review all government programs aimed at countering Communist encroachments abroad.

Johnson said Taylor, recently resigned as ambassador to South Viet Nam, also will play "a continuing role in support of the people and government" there and will take on other special assignments.

The President made the announcement in his office with Taylor sitting beside him. He said the former ambassador and one-time chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff will devote about half his time to his White House assignment.

ABBY

don't condone behavior, but show him you care

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I know I'm not the only wife with this problem, so maybe if you printed this your answer could help countless others. I've been married for over 25 years. My husband and I are both over 50. We have children and grandchildren. The problem, of course, is my husband. He's good-looking, young-looking in excellent health, and a hopeless woman chaser. (Not that he would be hard to catch.)

He makes no secret of his escapades, expecting me to forgive and forget and not to take them seriously. He says none of these affairs is serious and he "loves" only me. I'm not afraid of "losing" him, but I'm humiliated. I see no end to his behavior. I must admit he is kind, considerate, a good provider (though I work, too) and I do love him in spite of everything. What to do? Divorce him and live a lonely, unhappy life? Or just wait for old age?

EVE

DEAR EVE: DON'T divorce him — but don't condone his behavior, either. Every time he steps out of line, raise the roof and let him know you are hurt, disgusted and humiliated. Punish him a little by being cool to him, but don't banish him to the couch or he'll have a good excuse to find a more comfortable bed. Many men stray because they really believe their wives don't care enough. Show him you care plenty. What do you have to lose?

DEAR ABBY: When a boy breaks up with a girl, does he have to give her a reason? Please print this as many other girls would like to know the answer, too.

WENT STEADY

DEAR WENT: No. And if the girl is wise, she won't ask. The reason is obvious. He doesn't want to go steady with HER any more.

Chicago Is King Target

Atlanta (UPI) — Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. has decided to make Chicago a major target of a "nonviolent" school integration campaign, it was disclosed Wednesday.

King has sent a 10-man advance team to the Windy City under supervision of one of his most militant street demonstration leaders, the Rev. James Bevel.

King's Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC) will work in conjunction with the Coordinating Council of Community Organizations (CCCO) in Chicago.

The Negro leader promised the CCCO his "personal support and the support of the SCLC" in a major drive to break down what Negroes have charged is massive de facto segregation of schools in Chicago.

King did not disclose when or if he will go to Chicago to take personal charge of the new drive outside the South. He led a march of an estimated 30,000 there July 26 to press a demand for "quality integrated education."

One of the main targets of Negro groups in Chicago has been the superintendent of schools, Dr. Benjamin Willis, an administrator who has insisted on maintaining the neighborhood concept of public schools.

This summer has produced racial tensions and violence over the school issue.

The SCLC said the organization's "future involvement" in Chicago will be discussed Thursday in a private meeting between King and Al Rady, head of the CCCO, which is an amalgamation of Chicago racial groups. The meeting will be in Atlanta.

PLYMOUTH POLICE MAKE ARRESTS

Plymouth, N.C. (AP)—Massed police made more arrests Wednesday as they sought to relieve racial tensions which Plymouth authorities blamed on the Ku Klux Klan and out-of-town thrill seekers.

Meanwhile, a national civil rights leader said demonstrations are likely in many other communities of North Carolina, a Southern state with a record of good race relations.

Six persons have been picked up by officers since two white men were wounded in a street clash between white men and Negroes Tuesday night.

The tensions grew out of Negro voter registration demonstrations which began more than two weeks ago in this fishing and paper mill town of 5,000 in eastern North Carolina.

The violence was touched off Wednesday night for the second time in a week when a group of Negroes walked past a crowd of white persons on the main street. A few minutes earlier, Negro leaders, fearing trouble had called off a protest march.

In Durham, Floyd McKissick, national chairman of the Congress of Racial Equality, told the Associated Press:

"When Plymouth stops, it's going to be another town—you pick it . . . There are dozens of Plymouths in North Carolina."

Other Issues

The CORE official said that there were other issues at Plymouth beside voter registration. He listed among them "unemployment, schools, insults heaped upon the people daily, no enforcement of the public accommodations law."

Integration of schools in the Plymouth area began last week without incident.

F. H. Lagarde of Edenton, a civil rights leader, said that he and the chairman of North Carolina's Good Neighbor Council, D. S. Coltrane, agreed that the situation in Plymouth "has reached a crisis and that good faith negotiations should be resumed."

Coltrane later announced formation of the Washington-Plymouth Human Relations Council. He said the 19-member council would be headed by the Rev. Robert Holt, a white Episcopal minister based in Plymouth.

"The only power we have is to listen and communicate," Coltrane said in announcing the move. He said the council would consist of 10 white persons and nine Negroes.

The Rev. Mr. Holt is pastor of a white church in Plymouth and also serves a white and Negro church in nearby Roper.

Police Chief P. W. Brown said, "If the Klan and other outsiders would stay out of Plymouth, we could handle the situation. I am satisifed Klansmen were in the street crowd last night."

Plymouth's mayor, W. R. Flowers, put the blame on "various thrill seekers from outside Plymouth. I would say that less than five per cent of those on the streets Tuesday night were from Plymouth."

Troubled City Integrates

Bogalusa, La. (AP) — After a summer of violent racial turmoil, public schools in this troubled southeast Louisiana mill town were integrated quietly and peacefully Wednesday.

Two Negro boys and a girl, arriving alone on a school bus, entered Bogalusa Senior High School along with nearly 900 white pupils. Police kept curious whites two blocks away.

No spectators and only a few police were at Columbia Street Elementary School when a Negro boy and girl, clasping their mothers' hands, arrived by private car.

Desegregation of first and 12th grade classes was ordered earlier this month by a federal judge at New Orleans.

This town's Roman Catholic school, Annunciation, also desegregated, enrolling five Negro elementary students.

The classroom mixing followed a pattern set over much of the Deep South earlier this week as thousands of Negroes entered previously all white schools for the first time.

At Jackson, Miss., 123 Negro pupils registered Wednesday in grades 1, 2 and 3. Another 21 Negroes enrolled the previous day at the Mississippi city's three formerly all white high schools. Only the first grade was integrated last year.

More than 300 Negroes were admitted to desegregated classes at Greenville and Charleston Counties, South Carolina. It was the start of the third year of integration at Charleston and the second at Greenville.

LBJ Rehires Taylor As Special Consultant

Washington (AP) — President Johnson announced Wednesday night Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor has complied with an "urgent request" to serve as a special consultant to the President and review all government programs aimed at countering Communist encroachments abroad.

Johnson said Taylor, recently resigned as ambassador to South Viet Nam, also will play "a continuing role in support of the people and government" there and will take on other special assignments.

The President made the announcement in his office with Taylor sitting beside him. He said the former ambassador and one-time chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff will devote about half his time to his White House assignment.

Sorensen Wrote Book 'To Dispel Myths' About JFK

London (UPI) — Theodore Sorensen said Wednesday he wrote "The Kennedy I Knew" partly to dispel myths about the late president.

"I felt I was in a position to put down the kind of detail and point of view which were known to me," Sorensen said.

"It was important to get that kind of book written so that the real Kennedy would come through for posterity and not just a collection of myths."

Sorensen, a native of Lincoln, Neb., 36-year-old speech writer, confidante, and personal adviser to the late president for the last 11 years of Kennedy's life, arrived here Wednesday in connection with the publication of the book in Britain.

Wife Along

His wife Sarah accompanied him here.

"I had no intention of writing such a book," he said. "President Kennedy often spoke to me about writing his memoirs once he left office. He assumed that I would be assisting him.

"After his death I felt I had an obligation to write the book he was unable to write."

"There are many myths which I have tried to dispel," Sorensen said, "including the myth that he was cold, with no heart for issues."

The late president's adviser conceded that Kennedy's candor and remembrances already published had disclosed much about Kennedy's life, but said he thought "The Kennedy I Knew" would reveal much that is new.

No Sensational Secrets

"I don't claim my book will reveal sensational secrets," Sorensen said. "I do believe there are many facets of his private life and career that are not fully known—the true story of his health, his relationship with his father, his attitude toward religion."

What was the relationship with Joseph P. Kennedy?

"The suggestion that President Kennedy was dominated by his father, as some used to fear, is incorrect," Sorensen said.

"They had a deep respect for each other, but they agreed to disagree on all manner of things."

Did the president and his younger brother, Robert Kennedy, disagree about the selection of Lyndon Johnson as vice presidential candidate, with Robert in opposition to Johnson's choice?

"There was no disagreement," Sorensen said. "It is totally untrue to say there was."

78 Small Schools To Discuss New Operating Rules

Officials from 78 small public high schools are scheduled to meet later this month with State Education Department staff members to discuss recently-adopted rules governing operation of the schools.

Dr. LeRoy Ortgiesen, an assistant education commissioner, said the schools do not meet the tougher regulations.

Ortgiesen said there were indictions a handful of the small schools that can't meet the rules may close down after this school year. He did not identify the schools.

Ortgiesen said the meeting was called in order to help the schools come up to the regulations.

Sorensen Wrote Book 'To Dispel Myths' About JFK

London (UPI) - Theodore Sorenser said Wednesday he wrote "The Kennedy I Knew" partly to dispel myths about the late president

"I felt I was in a position to put down the kind of detail and point of view which were known to me," Sorensen said

"It was important to get that kind of book written so that the real Kennedy would come through for posterity and not just a collection of myths."

Sorensen, a native of Lincoln Neb 36-year old speech writer confidante, and personal adviser to the late president for the last 11 years of Kennedy's life arrived here Wednesday in connection with the publication of the book in Britain

His wife Sarah accompanied him here

"I had no intention of writing such a book," he said "President Kennedy often spoke to me about writing his memoirs once he left office He assumed that I would be assisting him

After his death I felt I had an obligation to write the book he was unable to write"

"There are many myths which I have tried to dispel," Sorensen said, "including the myth that he was cold, with no heart for issues."

The late president's adviser conceded that Kennedy's candor and remembrances already published had disclosed much about Kennedy's life, but said he thought "The Kennedy I Knew" would reveal much that new

No Sensational Secrets

"I don't claim my book will reveal sensational secrets," Sorensen said. "I do believe there are many facets of his private life and career that are not fully known—the true story of his health, his relationship with his father, his attitude toward religion."

What was the relationship with Joseph P Kennedy?

The suggestion that President Kennedy was dominated by his father, as some used to fear, is incorrect," Sorensen said

"They had a deep respect for each other, but they agreed to disagree on all manner of things."

Did the president and his younger brother, Robert Kennedy, disagree about the selection of Lyndon Johnson as vice presidential candidate, with Robert in opposition to Johnson's choice?

"There was no disagreement," Sorensen said. "It is totally untrue to say there was."

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you. Three-Level Green Earns Spot For Holmes' 16

. . . BORNER BOGEYS HOLE WITH 3 PUTTS TO TRAIL PROS BY ONE

HEAVY ROUGH . . . Holmes pro John Young stands in heavy rough, preparing to hit third shot to No. 16 green.

(16th of a Series)
By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Golf holes may be rated tough and beautiful on several factors.

Their toughness may lie in the tight fairway with trees on both sides. It may be a lake. It may be sand traps. It may be out of bounds. It may be distance. It may be a severe dog leg.

Or if it is like No. 16 at Lincoln's Holmes Park, it can be because of the green which puts that hole on The Lincoln Star's Nebraska's Best 18.

The right angle green is one of the largest in the state and the pin can be placed on any of its three levels, making putting a difficult task.

In fact, it is possible to have the pin placed on one side of the right angle and not be able to putt at the hole if your ball is on the other arm of the angle.

Lincoln amateur Charlie Borner, who tied the host pros in the series on Nov. 15 at Fremont's Country Cuub, lost his advantage again on Holmes' 16th after Holmes pro John Young scrambled for a par.

Borner drove past the dog leg and was near the center of the fairway for his 8-iron second shot to the green. But the Lincoln amateur then three-putted for a bogey-5.

He pushed his 16-foot putt past the hole on the right, then missed a three-footer coming back.

Young drove into the edge of the left rough and had to hit a 5-iron to get out of the rough. His second shot landed in heavy rough to the right of the green, but a sand wedge pitch put him five feet short of the pin.

Borner's bogey put him even with par on the back side and five over for the series to trail the pros by one in the series.

Young's par kept the pros at two over par on the back side. Taber's par kept him at four over on the back nine and 13 over for the series.

DODGERS FALL FROM FIRST

Reds Nab Lead With Two Wins

. . . LA LOSES TWICE

By Associated Press

The Cincinnati Reds swept a twi-night doubleheader from Milwaukee Wednesday night and took first place in the National League by one percentage point over Los Angeles which lost two games to Pittsburgh.

The Reds won the opener 7-6 with pinch hitter Tommy Helms' two-out triple in the ninth inning tying the score and Tommy Haper's single delivering Helms with the winning run. Deron Johnson homered twice for Cincinnati.

Jim Maloney pitched a five-hitter, blanking the Braves 2-0 in the nightcap. Tony Perez homered as Maloney shut out the Braves for the second time this season and ran his record to 17-6.

The Pirates beat Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale, knocking the Dodgers out of first place and creeping within 2½ games of the top spot.

Koufax lost the opener 3-2 in 11 innings although he struck out 10 and broke his National League record for strikeouts in a single season, running his total to 313, seven better than the 306 he fanned in 1963.

Jim Pagliaroni, who had scored the Pirates first run in the opener after doubling, drove in the winner with a double in the 11th after Koufax had walked Willie Stargell with two out.

Maury Wills' error on pinch hitter Manny Mota's roller beat Drysdale in the nightcap, 2-1. Bill Virdon, whose sixth-inning homer had tied the game at 1-1, started the winning rally with a one-out single in the eighth. Roberto Clemente singled him to third and then Mota, batting for Stargell against reliever Ron Perranoski, tapped a roller to short which Wills booted.

Third place San Francisco was rained out at Philadelphia and trails the Reds by one half game and only three percentage points. Rain also washed out Chicago's game at Baltimore.

Minnesota extended its American League lead to eight games with a 5-2 triumph over Detroit. Tony Oliva, returning to the starting line-up after being out for a week with a bad finger, hammered two doubles and a single pacing the Twins' attack.

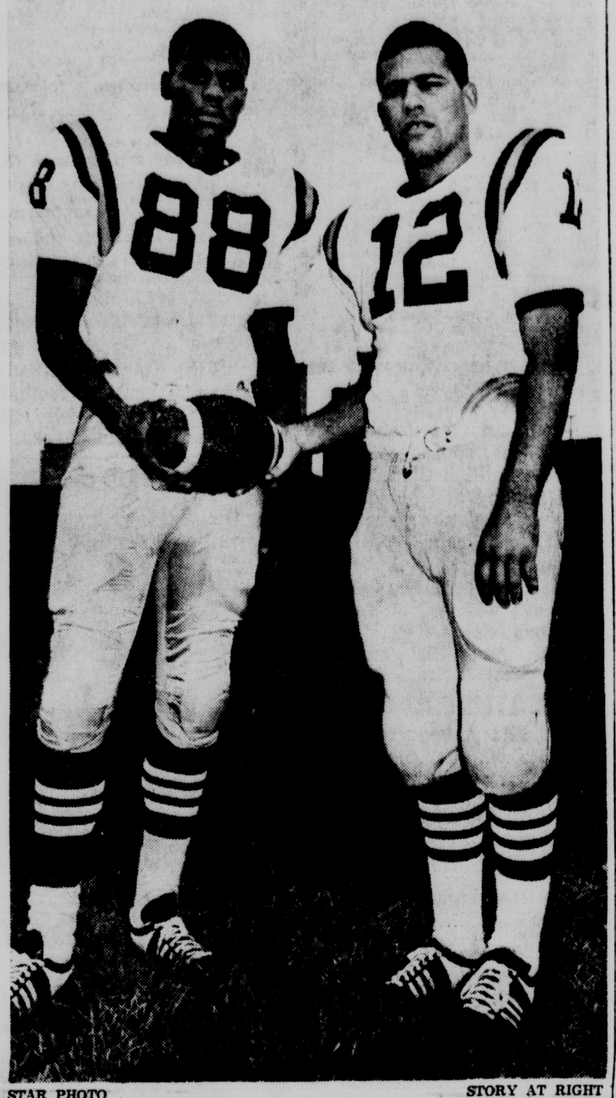

Houston and New York split a doubleheader, the Mets winning the opener 4-1 on Al Jackson's seven-hitter and the Astros taking the nightcap 5-5 on two home runs by Jim Gentile and one by Rusty Staub.

Tracy Stallard pitched a three-hit shutout as St. Louis blanked Chicago 9-0. Bob Skinner homered for the Cardinals.

Willie Kirkland's seventh-inning single delivered Ken McMullen with the winning run as Washington edged Boston 8-7. Don Lock homered for the Senators.

Bill Bryan and Wayne Causey walloped home runs that lifted Kansas City to a 4-3 victory over Cleveland.

Love Eyeing Pro Football

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Preston Love, pass catching end for the Lincoln Comets, knows why he continues to play football.

"I like the game," he replies. But he can't tell you why he likes it. "I don't know why," he says. "I just do."

And this is the same reason most of the players in the Comets lineup as well as in the rest of the Professional Football League of America risk injury and take time off from other interests to compete.

But while most of them have little hopes of advancing beyond the PFL, Love does have ideas on the higher institutions in pro football.

"I'd still like to play pro football in the big leagues," Preston admits. "But right now, I'm mainly interested in getting my degree at the University of Nebraska."

Love plans to carry 19 hours this fall in order to reach that goal in February. Then he hopes to make contact with a couple of National or American Football League teams.

The former Nebraska end who came to the Huskers by way of Northwestern and Norfolk Junior College was cut by the Detroit Lions who drafted him last winter.

"After I got cut, I didn't try to hook on with anyone else," Love explains. "I just decided to get that degree first, but after I get that I'll try to get on with someone as a free agent."

The former Nebraska high school high hurdle champion speaks with enthusiasm about pro football.

"I enjoyed it," he notes in talking about the Lions pro camp. "In some ways, it's easier than college football because you specialize more.

"With the pros all you do is work on your specialty and in the scrimmages all you have to worry about is doing your job. It's not as hard as people think. The toughest thing is adjusting, just like adjusting from high school to college."

As a two-sport competitor in football and track at Nebraska, Love has never had a chance to get very far from top physical condition, a fact that helps him lead the Comets each night during wind sprints.

"I don't see how some of the fellows do it," he points out. "You know, after being away from it for a couple of years, I think it would be awfully tough."

Love, who made his debut into professional football with the Comets in last week's loss to Omaha, notes that he enjoyed the first experience.

"But, I'd better wait a while before I say that," he emphasizes. "If I say that now, then go out there Sunday and don't catch a pass, I'll look like a dummy."

Love isn't likely to look like a dummy in the pass-catching department when the Comets meet Joliet at 4:30 p.m. Sunday at Seacrest Field. Pass catching is his specialty.

Rodeo Performer Turned Race Driver

. . . AT NEBRASKA STATE FAIR

A rodeo performer turned race driver will be trying his luck at the Nebraska State Fair big car auto racing programs presented by the International Motor Contest Association on the afternoons of Sept. 4, 5, and 6.

Ted Jones of Waco, Tex., laid down the lariat and quit trying to break wild horses in favor of professional auto racing.

Jones is the first to admit that racing is the most thrilling of the two, but the hazzards are also greater with one toss from a race car being far more damaging than any animal flip.

Jones has been doing a good job staying on all four wheels and he intends to stay that way for the big Nebraska State Fair big car racing dates.

The Grand Championship triple attraction has attracted the current IMCA point leader Gordon Woolley of Waco, Tex., who enticed Jones to come north and race this summer.

Jim Moughan of Springfield, Ill., is right behind Woolley in points and he'll have victory on his mind at the State Fair this year. Other big car entries have been received from Jerry Blundy of Galesburg, Ill., Buzz Barton of Tampa, Fla. (in an Offenhauser powered sprinter), and from Harold Leep of Wichita, Kan.

The semi-modified entries are pouring into the office of Henry Brandt, Nebraska State Fair secretary for the first appearance of the semi-modifieds Sept. 8.

Many Nebraska and Lincoln area entries are being received also for the super modified feature which will be held Sept. 9.

—BIG NEBRASKA 'PROBLEM'—

Who Will Be Starting Husker Quarterback?

Nebraska football coaches draw closer each day toward having to make a decision on one of the biggest problems that has faced them since coming to Nebraska, but it is a problem they would like to have every year.

The problem? Who to play at quarterback — incumbent Bob Churchich or returnee Fred Duda, who lost the job by default when he suffered a fractured leg in last year's Iowa State game.

And the performance of the two quarterbacks in the first three days of drills has done nothing to make the decision any easier. Both have been passing superbly and Duda has shown no signs of any trouble with the injured leg.

"Duda seems to be moving good and he is passing well, but then so is Churchich," Husker head coach Bob Devaney explains. "It's not going to be easy trying to decide."

Devaney indicated Wednesday he may put off the decision as long as possible.

"We may continue to alternate them even into our league season," he points out. "We feel we can do this in the non-conference games.

"But when the league season starts, we're going to have to make a decision. We've got to decide on one and go with him."

But the Husker coach hedges a little even on this decision. "We'll, at least, have to decide from game to game," he says.

"We may switch them to give Duda a chance to work with the No. 1 unit," the Husker coach says. "But Duda is with a pretty good backfield right now with Ken Brunk, Pete Tatman and Ben Gregory.

"And he's got Dennis Richnafsky to throw to," Devaney concluded.

Hospitality To Gain Prestige For Mexico

Mexico City (AP)—President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz said Wednesday in his state of the union message that Mexico does not expect to win many events in the 1968 Olympic Games it hosts but is determined to gain prestige by "the way we treat the contestants and our other guests."

The president added this is more important to Mexico's prestige "than our breathtaking views and lovely cities."

OU Defense Dominant In First Fall Drill

The No. 1 offensive unit was able to pick up only one first down against the No. 1 defensive team. The first team managed to score twice against the No. 3 defensive unit. Halfback Ben Hart ran 15 yards for one score and the other touchdown was on a pass from halfback Tommy Pannell to Hart.

Outstanding Gridder

Softball Oldtimers Will Meet Saturday

A meeting for retired city league softball players has been scheduled for Saturday at 7:30 p.m. at Bowl-Mor Lanes, in hopes of forming an Oldtimers association.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you. Egyptian Candor Wins Trot Classic

. . . IN 2ND SLOWEST TIME

The only slower time in the 40-year history of the stake was 2:10 3-5 by Blaze Hanover in 1960 in winning another of the four heat races required to get a victor.

Egyptian Candor also won the second heat, and finished fifth in the first heat and second to Armbro Flight in the third heat

"It was a long hard day, much tougher than it was in 1954," Cameron said. He spoke of his only previous victory in the Hambletonian, when he piloted Newport Dream to the prized triumph.

The racing speed was slow for all four heats on a track which was drenched by heavy rain yesterday. The first heat of the race was delayed more than two hours on request of a drivers' committee while track attendants worked to improve the footing.

The heavy track doubtless contributed to the downfall of Noble Victory, the standout 3-year old trotter of the season, who had lost only one heat in 28 races going into Wednesday's event. He went off stride in both of the first two heats, only the second and third time he has broken in his career, and finished ninth, seventh and third, thus failing to qualify for the final payoff clash.

Short Stop, owned by the Penn-Win stable and driven by Ned Bower, won the first heat in 2:05 1-5, Egyptian Candor was clocked at 2:04 3-5 in the second heat and Marmbro Flight in 2:03 3-5 in the third heat.

The winner's share of $59,200 from the gross purse of $122,245, fourth-highest in Hambletonian History, boosted Egyptian Candor's earnings to $162,033. His two victories today gave him four wins in 11 starts this year.

Jayhawks Get Light Scrimmage In 1st Drill

Lawrence, Kan. (AP) — The Kansas football team got in a little light scrimmage to wind up the first day of fall practice Wednesday, and Coach Jack Mitchell said the squad made more progress than he expected.

Mitchell complimented the running of Dan Miller, a junior halfback, and the passing of Bob Skahan and Bill Fenton. There was a little more passing than running in the scrimmage session.

Cyclones Go Through Drill On Fundamentals

Ames, Iowa (AP) — Iowa State's football team practiced for four hours Wednesday but all of it was on fundamentals. Coach Clay Stapleton has handed out only a few plays so far and the Cyclones included them in the drill.

"We'll stick to basic things until we need to get ready for contact work," he said.

Doug Weaver Tries Changes At K-State

Manhattan, Kan. (AP)—Coach Doug Weaver juggled positions and players the first day of football drills at Kansas State Wednesday.

Ed Danieley, starting quarterback last season, was moved to fullback, and Charlie Cottle, who has started at fullback, shifted to defensive halfback.

Kearney State Has 88 Grid Candidates

The squad included 37 lettermen and four from last year's reserve squad. Wearing the blue and gold uniforms for the first time are 47 freshmen and transfer students.

Head coach Allen H. Zikmund said he was impressed by the physical condition of the men. The coaching staff said that with the exception of two or three players, all are in fine shape.

Three-Level Green Earns Spot For Holmes' 16

HEAVY ROUGH . . . Holmes pro John Young stands in heavy rough, preparing to hit third shot to No. 16 green.

(16th of a Series)
By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Golf holes may be rated tough and beautiful on several factors.

Their toughness may lie in the tight fairway with trees on both sides. It may be a lake. It may be sand traps. It may be out of bounds. It may be distance. It may be a severe dog leg.

Or if it is like No. 16 at Lincoln's Holmes Park, it can be because of the green which puts that hole on The Lincoln Star's Nebraska's Best 18.

The right angle green is one of the largest in the state and the pin can be placed on any of its three levels, making putting a difficult task

In fact, it is possible to have the pin placed on one side of the right angle and not be able to putt at the hole if your ball is on the other arm of the angle.

Lincoln amateur Charlie Borner, who tied the host pros in the series on Nov 15 at Fremont's Country Club, lost his advantage again on Holmes' 16th after Holmes pro John Young scrambled for a par.

Borner drove past the dog leg and was near the center of the fairway for his 8-iron second shot to the green. But the Lincoln amateur then three-putted for a bogey-5.

He pushed his 16-foot putt past the hole on the right, then missed a three-footer coming back.

Young drove into the edge of the left rough and had to hit a 5-iron to get out of the rough His second shot landed in heavy rough to the right of the green but a sand wedge pitch put him five feet short of the pin

Borner's bogey put him even with par on the back side and five over for the series to trail the pros by one in the series

Young's par kept the pros at two over par on the back side Taber's par kept him at four over on the back nine and 13 over for the series

DODGERS FALL FROM FIRST

Reds Nab Lead With Two Wins

. . . LA LOSES TWICE

By Associated Press

The Cincinnati Reds swept a twi-night doubleheader from Milwaukee Wednesday night and took first place in the National League by one percentage point over Los Angeles which lost two games to Pittsburgh.

The Reds won the opener 7-6 with pinch hitter Tommy Helms' two-out triple in the ninth inning tying the score and Tommy Haper's single delivering Helms with the winning run. Deron Johnson homered twice for Cincinnati.

Jim Maloney pitched a five-hitter, blanking the Braves 2-0 in the nightcap. Tony Perez homered as Maloney shut out the Braves for the second time this season and ran his record to 17-6.

The Pirates beat Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale, knocking the Dodgers out of first place and creeping within 2½ games of the top spot.

Koufax lost the opener 3-2 in 11 innings although he struck out 10 and broke his National League record for strikeouts in a single season, running his total to 313, seven better than the 306 he fanned in 1963.

Jim Pagliaroni, who had scored the Pirates first run in the opener after doubling, drove in the winner with a double in the 11th after Koufax had walked Willie Stargell with two out.

Maury Wills' error on pinch hitter Manny Mota's roller beat Drysdale in the nightcap, 2-1. Bill Virdon, whose sixth-inning homer had tied the game at 1-1, started the winning rally with a one-out single in the eighth. Roberto Clemente singled him to third and then Mota, batting for Stargell against reliever Ron Perranoski, tapped a roller to short which Wills booted.

Third place San Francisco was rained out at Philadelphia and trails the Reds by one half game and only three percentage points. Rain also washed out Chicago's game at Baltimore.

Minnesota extended its American League lead to eight games with a 5-2 triumph over Detroit. Tony Oliva, returning to the starting line-up after being out for a week with a bad finger, hammered two doubles and a single pacing the Twins' attack.

Houston and New York split a doubleheader, the Mets winning the opener 4-1 on Al Jackson's seven-hitter and the Astros taking the nightcap 5-5 on two home runs by Jim Gentile and one by Rusty Staub.

Tracy Stallard pitched a three-hit shutout as St. Louis blanked Chicago 9-0. Bob Skinner homered for the Cardinals.

Willie Kirkland's seventh-inning single delivered Ken McMullen with the winning run as Washington edged Boston 8-7. Don Lock homered for the Senators

Bill Bryan and Wayne Causey walloped home runs that lifted Kansas City to a 4-3 victory over Cleveland.

Love Eyeing Pro Football

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Preston Love, pass catching end for the Lincoln Comets, knows why he continues to play football

"I like the game," he replies. But he can't tell you why he likes it. "I don't know why," he says. "I just do."

And this is the same reason most of the players in the Comets lineup as well as in the rest of the Professional Football League of America risk injury and take time off from other interests to compete.

But while most of them have little hopes of advancing beyond the PFL, Love does have ideas on the higher institutions in pro football.

"I'd still like to play pro football in the big leagues," Preston admits. "But right now, I'm mainly interested in getting my degree at the University of Nebraska."

Love plans to carry 19 hours this fall in order to reach that goal in February Then he hopes to make contact with a couple of National or American Football League teams.

The former Nebraska end who came to the Huskers by way of Northwestern and Norfolk Junior College was cut by the Detroit Lions who drafted him last winter

"After I got cut, I didn't try to hook on with anyone else," Love explains. "I just decided to get that degree first, but after I get that I'll try to get on with someone as a free agent."

"I enjoyed it," he notes in talking about the Lions pro camp In some ways it's easier than college football because you specialize more

"With the pros all you do is work on your specialty and in the scrimmages all you have to worry about is doing your job. It's not as hard as people think. The toughest thing is adjusting, just like adjusting from high school to college."

As a two-sport competitor in football and track at Nebraska, Love has never had a chance to get very far from top physical condition a fact that helps him lead the Comets each night during wind sprints

"I don't see how some of the fellows do it," he points out. 'You know, after being away from it for a couple of years, I think it would be awfully tough "

Love, who made his debut into professional football with the Comets in last week's loss to Omaha, notes that he enjoyed the first experience.

"But, I'd better wait a while before I say that," he emphasizes. "If I say that now, then go out there Sunday and don't catch a pass, I'll look like a dummy "

Love isn't likely to look like a dummy in the pass-catching department when the Comets meet Joliet at 4:30 p.m. Sunday at Seacrest Field. Pass catching is his specialty.

Rodeo Performer Turned Race Driver

. . . AT NEBRASKA STATE FAIR

A rodeo performer turned race driver will be trying his luck at the Nebraska State Fair big car auto racing programs presented by the International Motor Contest Association on the afternoons of Sept. 4, 5, and 6.

Jones is the first to admit that racing is the most thrilling of the two, but the hazzards are also greater with one toss from a race car being far more damaging than any animal flip.

Jones has been doing a good job staying on all four wheels and he intends to stay that way for the big Nebraska State Fair big car racing dates.

The Grand Championship triple attraction has attracted the current IMCA point leader Gordon Woolley of Waco, Tex., who enticed Jones to come north and race this summer.

Jim Moughan of Springfield, Ill., is right behind Woolley in points and he'll have victory on his mind at the State Fair this year. Other big car entries have been received from Jerry Blundy of Galesburg, Ill., Buzz Barton of Tampa, Fla. (in an Offenhauser powered sprinter), and from Harold Leep of Wichita, Kan.

The semi-modified entries are pouring into the office of Henry Brandt, Nebraska State Fair secretary for the first appearance of the semi-modifieds Sept. 8.

Many Nebraska and Lincoln area entries are being received also for the super modified feature which will be held Sept. 9.

OU Defense Dominant In First Fall Drill

The No. 1 offensive unit was able to pick up only one first down against the No. 1 defensive team. The first team managed to score twice against the No. 3 defensive unit. Halfback Ben Hart ran 15 yards for one score and the other touchdown was on a pass from halfback Tommy Pannell to Hart.

Outstanding Gridder

—BIG NEBRASKA 'PROBLEM'—

Who Will Be Starting Husker Quarterback?

Nebraska football coaches draw closer each day toward having to make a decision on one of the biggest problems that has faced them since coming to Nebraska, but it is a problem they would like to have every year.

The problem? Who to play at quarterback — incumbent Bob Churchich or returnee Fred Duda, who lost the job by default when he suffered a fractured leg in last year's Iowa State game.

And the performance of the two quarterbacks in the first three days of drills has done nothing to make the decision any easier. Both have been passing superbly and Duda has shown no signs of any trouble with the injured leg.

"Duda seems to be moving good and he is passing well, but then so is Churchich," Husker head coach Bob Devaney explains. "It's not going to be easy trying to decide."

Devaney indicated Wednesday he may put off the decision as long as possible.

"We may continue to alternate them even into our league season," he points out. "We feel we can do this in the non-conference games.

"But when the league season starts, we're going to have to make a decision. We've got to decide on one and go with him."

But the Husker coach hedges a little even on this decision. "We'll, at least, have to decide from game to game," he says.

"We may switch them to give Duda a chance to work with the No. 1 unit," the Husker coach says. "But Duda is with a pretty good backfield right now with Ken Brunk, Pete Tatman and Ben Gregory.

"And he's got Dennis Richnafsky to throw to," Devaney concluded.

Hospitality To Gain Prestige For Mexico

Mexico City (AP)—President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz said Wednesday in his state of the union message that Mexico does not expect to win many events in the 1968 Olympic Games it hosts but is determined to gain prestige by "the way we treat the contestants and our other guests "

The president added this is more important to Mexico's prestige "than our breathtaking views and lovely cities."

Egyptian Candor Wins Trot Classic

. . . IN 2ND SLOWEST TIME

Du Quoin, Ill. (UPI)—Egyptian Candor, driven by Del Cameron, won the prized Hambletonian Classic for 3-year old trotters today with a fourth heat victory in the second-slowest time in the history of the stake.

The only slower time in the 40-year history of the stake was 2:10 3-5 by Blaze Hanover in 1960 in winning another of the four heat races required to get a victor.

Egyptian Candor also won the second heat, and finished fifth in the first heat and second to Armbro Flight in the third heat

"It was a long hard day, much tougher than it was in 1954," Cameron said. He spoke of his only previous victory in the Hambletonian, when he piloted Newport Dream to the prized triumph.

The racing speed was slow for all four heats on a track which was drenched by heavy rain yesterday. The first heat of the race was delayed more than two hours on request of a drivers' committee while track attendants worked to improve the footing.

The heavy track doubtless contributed to the downfall of Noble Victory, the standout 3-year old trotter of the season, who had lost only one heat in 28 races going into Wednesday's event. He went off stride in both of the first two heats, only the second and third time he has broken in his career, and finished ninth, seventh and third, thus failing to qualify for the final payoff clash.

Short Stop, owned by the Penn-Win stable and driven by Ned Bower, won the first heat in 2:05 1-5, Egyptian Candor was clocked at 2:04 3-5 in the second heat and Marmbro Flight in 2:03 3-5 in the third heat.

The winner's share of $59,200 from the gross purse of $122,245, fourth-highest in Hambletonian History, boosted Egyptian Candor's earnings to $162,033. His two victories today gave him four wins in 11 starts this year.

Jayhawks Get Light Scrimmage In 1st Drill

Lawrence, Kan. (AP) — The Kansas football team got in a little light scrimmage to wind up the first day of fall practice Wednesday, and Coach Jack Mitchell said the squad made more progress than he expected.

Mitchell complimented the running of Dan Miller, a junior halfback, and the passing of Bob Skahan and Bill Fenton. There was a little more passing than running in the scrimmage session.

Cyclones Go Through Drill On Fundamentals

Ames, Iowa (AP) — Iowa State's football team practiced for four hours Wednesday but all of it was on fundamentals. Coach Clay Stapleton has handed out only a few plays so far and the Cyclones included them in the drill.

"We'll stick to basic things until we need to get ready for contact work," he said.

Doug Weaver Tries Changes At K-State

Ed Danieley, starting quarterback last season, was moved to fullback, and Charlie Cottle, who has started at fullback, shifted to defensive halfback.

Kearney State Has 88 Grid Candidates

Kearney (UPI) — Eighty-eight men have turned out for the 1965 football team at Kearney State College

The squad included 37 lettermen and four from last year's reserve squad. Wearing the blue and gold uniforms for the first time are 47 freshmen and transfer students.

Head coach Allen H Zikmund said he was impressed by the physical condition of the men. The coaching staff said that with the exception of two or three players, all are in fine shape.

Reds Want U.S. Out Of Hong Kong 'War Base'

Tokyo (AP)— Red China demanded Wednesday that Britain deny the United States the use of Hong Kong as "a base for their war of aggression against Viet Nam." It accused the British of shielding U.S. operations in the crown colony.

The United States has said it has used Hong Kong only as a place for rest and recreation for military men on duty in Viet Nam. But this was swept aside by the Chinese in a note to Britain.

"The Chinese government has noted that in recent months, as the government of the United States frantically escalates its war of aggression in Viet Nam, warships, planes and military personnel of the U.S. aggressor forces have increasingly frequented Hong Kong and made extensive use of it as a base for their war preparations," said the note broadcast by Peking Radio.

The note charged the United States had acquired "large quantities of military supplies and provisions in Hong Kong for their use in Viet Nam."

"All this shows clearly that Hong Kong is increasingly being used by the U.S. aggressor forces as a base of operations for the U.S. war of aggression against Viet Nam," the note added.

"Far from checking these frenzied activities of the U.S. agressor forces in Hong Kong, the British government has tried in many ways to shield and justify them in an attempt to evade its own responsibility.

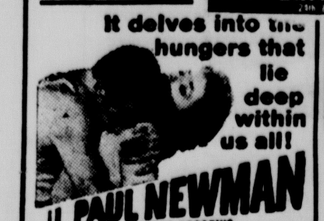

Plane Exploded

"On Aug. 24, a U.S. military aircraft exploded and fell into the sea while taking off from Hong Kong to go back to Da Nang . . . The spokesman of the colonial office of the British government asserted that U.S. troops were in Hong Kong only for 'leave and recreation.'

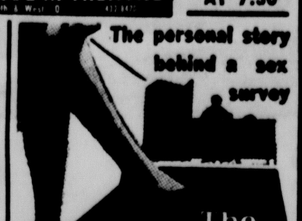

"The spokesman of the U.S. Department of State also quibbled on the same pretext and clamored that the U.S. forces would continue to use Hong Kong. This has exposed not only the gangster features of the U.S. aggressors, but also the collusion of the British and U.S. governments."

The note declared that if Britain allows Hong Kong "to be drawn into the whirlpool of the U.S. war of aggression it must bear full responsibility for all the consequences arising therefrom."

Ho Bo Woods Bombed

The area hit was in the Ho Bo woods in Binh Duong province.

Under current security restrictions, the spokesman said only that "a number" of the big Strategic Air Command bombers carried out the raid.

It was the 17th reported B52 raid of the Viet Nam war. The bomb explosions shook windows in downtown Saigon.

There has been a stepup in activity by B52 bombers in recent weeks and it is expected that this role will be further increased. There were two raids by the Guam-based bombers Tuesday night.

In ground action, Vietnamese troops clashed with a Viet Cong company 12 miles south of Quang Ngai city early Thursday.

Quang Ngai is 80 miles south of Da Nang and 330 mile north of Saigon.

A U.S. military spokesman said Thursday morning fighting still was going on and that U.S. air support had been called in to aid the government troops.

There was no immediate report on casualties.

Medical Education Program Is Passed By House, 340-47

Washington (AP)—The House approved 340 to 47 a four-year, $787.5 million program of aid for medical and nursing education.

The measure, which now goes to the Senate, extends some programs and adds others designed to help schools turn out more physicians, dentists, nurses and osteopaths through scholarships, grants and construction assistance.

The bill authorizes two new federal programs in the field of medical education:

1. A four-year program of grants to schools of medicine, dentistry, osteopathy and optometry so they can award scholarships of up to $2,500 a year to needy students.

2. A four-year, $200 million program of basic and special improvement grants to the schools to help them to increase the quality and scope of their teaching programs.

Wrecking Crews Working On NU's Old Grant Hall

The University Board of Regents decided in August the building wasn't worth repairing, and awarded a contract to raze the structure to the American Wrecking Co. of Omaha.

The 1965 Legislature authorized the building of a new women's physical education facility.

RADIO THROUGH 'CURTAIN'

4 Waldo Boars Going To Ecuador

DeWitt (UPI)—Waldo farms of DeWitt are shipping four accredited SPF Duroc boars to Ecuador. The top animals from the Waldo herd that was started in 1895 will go to two experiment stations.

CHANCELLOR WILL MAKE AMERICA'S VOICE LIVELY

Washington (AP)—John Chancellor took charge at the Voice of America Wednesday with a pledge to broadcast news fast and accurately, to include criticisms of U.S. policy, and to present a lively picture of modern America.

"It is my intent that we 'swing' a little," Chancellor said as he took the oath of office as the new head of the U.S. government's overseas radio.

"Under my stewardship," he said, "the Voice of America will not drift into arcane intellectualism or academic pendantry.

'First With Latest'

"We will be vigorous, amusing, avant garde; we will be the first with the latest, we will be current and contemporary."

The former National Broadcasting Corp. newsman said it is especially important for the voice to carry news that is "deadly accurate" which is "as fast as yesterday's rumor or today's slander."

"Our task is to make the policies of the government of the United States clearly and explicitly understood around the world, with no chance for any misunderstandings," he said.

Johnson Choice

Chancellor said that as one fresh from commercial American broadcasting, he found great "scope and freedom of programming" at the U.S. government radio beamed to foreign audiences.

He said the Voice of America will "report the arguments within our own society" because "sensible opposition and reasonable dissent is basic to a true portrayal of the society we represent."

Criticism of official positions will be reported "when it becomes news" and "with balance and perspective," he added.

Minority Education

Chicago (UPI) — A nationwide survey of public schools will be held Sept. 28 to determine the quality of education that children from minority groups receive, a sociologist announced.

Hot Lunch Cost To Be 30 Cents For Youngsters

Hot lunches for elementary children in the Lincoln Public School system will be boosted in proce this year from 25 to 30 cents for a single lunch or to 27 cents on a five-meal ticket purchased for $1.35.

The price increase was announced Tuesday by Asst. Supt. Reed N. Schaefer and Vice Supt. Arzell Ball. However the new price was inadvertently dropped from The Star story Wednesday morning.

Reds Want U.S. Out Of Hong Kong 'War Base'

Tokyo (AP)— Red China demanded Wednesday that Britain deny the United States the use of Hong Kong as "a base for their war of aggression against Viet Nam." It accused the British of shielding U.S. operations in the crown colony.

The United States has said it has used Hong Kong only as a place for rest and recreation for military men on duty in Viet Nam. But this was swept aside by the Chinese in a note to Britain.

"The Chinese government has noted that in recent months, as the government of the United States frantically escalates its war of aggression in Viet Nam, warships, planes and military personnel of the U.S. aggressor forces have increasingly frequented Hong Kong and made extensive use of it as a base for their war preparations," said the note broadcast by Peking Radio.

The note charged the United States had acquired "large quantities of military supplies and provisions in Hong Kong for their use in Viet Nam."

"All this shows clearly that Hong Kong is increasingly being used by the U.S. aggressor forces as a base of operations for the U.S. war of aggression against Viet Nam," the note added.

"Far from checking these frenzied activities of the U.S. agressor forces in Hong Kong, the British government has tried in many ways to shield and justify them in an attempt to evade its own responsibility.

Plane Exploded

"On Aug. 24, a U.S. military aircraft exploded and fell into the sea while taking off from Hong Kong to go back to Da Nang . . . The spokesman of the colonial office of the British government asserted that U.S. troops were in Hong Kong only for 'leave and recreation.'

"The spokesman of the U.S. Department of State also quibbled on the same pretext and clamored that the U.S. forces would continue to use Hong Kong. This has exposed not only the gangster features of the U.S. aggressors, but also the collusion of the British and U.S. governments."

The note declared that if Britain allows Hong Kong "to be drawn into the whirlpool of the U.S. war of aggression it must bear full responsibility for all the consequences arising therefrom."

Taft-Hartley Section Repeal Okayed By Senate Group

Washington (AP)—A bill to repeal a part of the Taft-Hartley labor act that allows states to ban union shop agreements cleared the Senate Labor Committee Wednesday.

The vote was 12 to 3.

No date has been set for action by the full Senate, but when it does come up a bitter fight is expected.

Majority leader Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., has promised to call up the bill before Congress adjourns and White House Press Secretary Bill D. Moyers said Wednesday President Johnson expects final action on it this session.

Nineteen states have laws which ban union shop agreements under which an employe may be required to join the union within 30 days in order to hold a job.

One amendment approved by the Senate committee makes an exception.

Sponsored by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., it provides for persons who object to union membership on grounds of religious conscience. Under this amendment, they could pay sums equivalent to union dues to a charitable organization.

Southern Democrats and Republicans who oppose the bill have said they will offer many amendments and oppose passage at length.

While no breakdown of the committee vote was given, it was learned two Republicans —Jacob K. Javits, N.Y., and George Murphy, Calif., joined 10 Democrats in clearing the bill from committee.

Committee Chairman Lister Hill, D-Ala., and Republicans Peter H. Dominick, Colo., and Paul J. Fannin, Ariz., reportedly voted no.

Javits said he voted to report the bill because he believed "we should have a truly national labor policy and its essentials the same in every one of the 50 states."

New Swift Plant Will Open Oct. 4

"We plan to fire up the boilers on Sept. 16 and start up the plant for sort of a trial run," he said.

Finished meat products will not be manufactured at the plant. Carcasses will be shipped from here as quarters and will be finished at stores and other process points.

A labor force of 75 will be hired from this area. Most supervisory personnel will be brought in from Swift installations elsewhere.

Dike Protection Start Okayed By Hooper Voters

Hooper (AP) — Mayor Clark Warne said Wednesday acquisition of right of way for a ditch and dike to protect Hooper from Elkhorn River flooding will begin immediately.

Voters Tuesday approved a $35,000 bond issue to help finance the project. The federal government will pay about 90% of the estimated $350,000 cost.

Tuesday's vote was 238 in favor and 65 opposed to the bond issue. The turnout of 303 represented 75% of the eligible voters.

Dr. Janes Dies

Omaha (AP) — A memorial service will be held at the First Congregational Church in San Francisco for its pastor, Dr. Harold T. Janes, 60, who for 12 years was pastor of the First Central Congregational Church in Omaha. Dr. Janes died of a stroke last Thursday.

Harry Signs Desk Drawer For Museum

Independence, Mo. (AP)—The center drawer of a desk used in the White House by 10 presidents was autographed Wednesday by former President Harry S. Truman.

Truman added his signature to that of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower at the request of President Johnson. He used black ink to sign his name while Eisenhower had used a lead pencil.

The drawer was sent here by James R. Ketchum, curator of the White House. Upon its return to Washington, the drawer and desk will be on display at the new Smithsonian Institution's Museum of History and Technology.

Presidents Truman and Eisenhower used the desk exclusively and John F. Kennedy replaced it with a desk from the timbers of a British ship which had been presented to President Rutherford B. Hayes by Queen Victoria.

BULB SNATCHER WANTED TO SEE IF LIGHT LIT

The culprit, a boy of 11, was found climbing down an 80-foot light tower in a park. He had a 1500-watt light bulb in his hand.

Police asked why he took the bulb.

The boy said he wanted to see if it worked.

Algerian Envoy Says Ex-Premier Ben Bella Safe

Freetown, Sierra Leone (AP)—Former Algerian Premier Ahmed Ben Bella is alive and safe, an Algerian special envoy said Wednesday.

Mohammed Yazid said he did not expect Ben Bella's trial on charges alleging treason to take place for some time. He did not elaborate.

Dave Stevens, 68, Veteran Cozad Newsman, Dies

He had suffered a heart attack earlier in the day.

Mr. Stevens had been active in the operation of the Cozad weekly newspaper, the Local, most of his adult life. He became its editor after returning from World War I and publisher in the mid 1940s.

In 1956 he stepped down and his son, David Jr., took the helm of the newspaper. However, the older man remained active in its operation.

He was also active in civic and American Legion affairs.

Funeral services were tentatively set for 10 a.m. Friday at the Berryman Funeral Home in Cozad. Survivors include his wife, Genevieve; three sons, David Jr., Allen of Indio, Calif., and Sam of Omaha; and a sister Mrs. Troy Berryman of Cozad.

AEC Fires Another Low Yield Test Blast

Ho Bo Woods Bombed

The area hit was in the Ho Bo woods in Binh Duong province.

Under current security restrictions, the spokesman said only that "a number" of the big Strategic Air Command bombers carried out the raid.

It was the 17th reported B52 raid of the Viet Nam war. The bomb explosions shook windows in downtown Saigon.

There has been a stepup in activity by B52 bombers in recent weeks and it is expected that this role will be further increased. There were two raids by the Guam-based bombers Tuesday night.

In ground action, Vietnamese troops clashed with a Viet Cong company 12 miles south of Quang Ngai city early Thursday.

A U.S. military spokesman said Thursday morning fighting still was going on and that U.S. air support had been called in to aid the government troops.

There was no immediate report on casualties.

Medical Education Program Is Passed By House, 340-47

Washington (AP)—The House approved 340 to 47 a four-year, $787.5 million program of aid for medical and nursing education.

The measure, which now goes to the Senate, extends some programs and adds others designed to help schools turn out more physicians, dentists, nurses and osteopaths through scholarships, grants and construction assistance.

The bill authorizes two new federal programs in the field of medical education:

1. A four-year program of grants to schools of medicine, dentistry, osteopathy and optometry so they can award scholarships of up to $2,500 a year to needy students.

2. A four-year, $200 million program of basic and special improvement grants to the schools to help them to increase the quality and scope of their teaching programs.

Enrollment At Hyatt School, 342; 115 At Academy

The College View Academy, grades 9-12, had an enrollment of 115, according to the Seventh Day Adventists school officials.

Wrecking Crews Working On NU's Old Grant Hall

Wrecking crews Wednesday began tearing down Grant Memorial Hall, the aging physical education building for women at the University of Nebraska.

The University Board of Regents decided in August the building wasn't worth repairing, and awarded a contract to raze the structure to the American Wrecking Co. of Omaha.

The 1965 Legislature authorized the building of a new women's physical education facility.

RADIO THROUGH 'CURTAIN'

A Hughes Aircraft plant technician at Fullerton, Calif., works on coil and sheath assemblies vital to ten 250,000-watt radio transmitters that will penetrate Red China's "Bamboo Curtain." The Voice of America transmitters will simplify automatic frequency changes to avoid jamming by Red Stations.

4 Waldo Boars Going To Ecuador

DeWitt (UPI)—Waldo farms of DeWitt are shipping four accredited SPF Duroc boars to Ecuador. The top animals from the Waldo herd that was started in 1895 will go to two experiment stations.

CHANCELLOR WILL MAKE AMERICA'S VOICE LIVELY

Washington (AP)—John Chancellor took charge at the Voice of America Wednesday with a pledge to broadcast news fast and accurately to include criticisms of U.S. policy, and to present a lively picture of modern America

"It is my intent that we 'swing' a little," Chancellor said as he took the oath of office as the new head of the U.S. government's overseas radio.

"Under my stewardship," he said, "the Voice of America will not drift into arcane intellectualism or academic pendantry

'First With Latest'

"We will be vigorous, amusing, avant garde; we will be the first with the latest, we will be current and contemporary."

The former National Broadcasting Corp. newsman said it is especially important for the voice to carry news that is "deadly accurate" which is "as fast as yesterday's rumor or today's slander."

"Our task is to make the policies of the government of the United States clearly and explicitly understood around the world, with no chance for any misunderstandings," he said.

Johnson Choice

Chancellor said that as one fresh from commercial American broadcasting, he found great "scope and freedom of programming" at the U.S. government radio beamed to foreign audiences.

He said the Voice of America will "report the arguments within our own society" because "sensible opposition and reasonable dissent is basic to a true portrayal of the society we represent."

Criticism of official positions will be reported "when it becomes news" and "with balance and perspective," he added.

Minority Education

Chicago (UPI) — A nationwide survey of public schools will be held Sept 28 to determine the quality of education that children from minority groups receive, a sociologist announced.

Hot Lunch Cost To Be 30 Cents For Youngsters

Hot lunches for elementary children in the Lincoln Public School system will be boosted in price this year from 25 to 30 cents for a single lunch or to 27 cents on a five-meal ticket purchased for $1.35

The price increase was announced Tuesday by Asst. Supt Reed N Schaefer and Vice Supt Arzell Ball. However the new price was inadvertently dropped from The Star story Wednesday morning

Taft-Hartley Section Repeal Okayed By Senate Group

Washington (AP)—A bill to repeal a part of the Taft-Hartley labor act that allows states to ban union shop agreements cleared the Senate Labor Committee Wednesday.

The vote was 12 to 3.

No date has been set for action by the full Senate, but when it does come up a bitter fight is expected.

Majority leader Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., has promised to call up the bill before Congress adjourns and White House Press Secretary Bill D. Moyers said Wednesday President Johnson expects final action on it this session.

The House approved the repeal of section 14B 221 to 203.

Nineteen states have laws which ban union shop agreements under which an employe may be required to join the union within 30 days in order to hold a job.

One amendment approved by the Senate committee makes an exception.

Sponsored by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., it provides for persons who object to union membership on grounds of religious conscience. Under this amendment, they could pay sums equivalent to union dues to a charitable organization.

Southern Democrats and Republicans who oppose the bill have said they will offer many amendments and oppose passage at length.

While no breakdown of the committee vote was given, it was learned two Republicans —Jacob K. Javits, N.Y., and George Murphy, Calif., joined 10 Democrats in clearing the bill from committee.

Committee Chairman Lister Hill, D-Ala., and Republicans Peter H. Dominick, Colo., and Paul J. Fannin, Ariz., reportedly voted no.

Javits said he voted to report the bill because he believed "we should have a truly national labor policy and its essentials the same in every one of the 50 states."

New Swift Plant Will Open Oct. 4

"We plan to fire up the boilers on Sept. 16 and start up the plant for sort of a trial run," he said.

Finished meat products will not be manufactured at the plant. Carcasses will be shipped from here as quarters and will be finished at stores and other process points.

A labor force of 75 will be hired from this area. Most supervisory personnel will be brought in from Swift installations elsewhere.

Dike Protection Start Okayed By Hooper Voters

Hooper (AP) — Mayor Clark Warne said Wednesday acquisition of right of way for a ditch and dike to protect Hooper from Elkhorn River flooding will begin immediately.

Voters Tuesday approved a $35,000 bond issue to help finance the project. The federal government will pay about 90% of the estimated $350,000 cost.

Tuesday's vote was 238 in favor and 65 opposed to the bond issue. The turnout of 303 represented 75% of the eligible voters.

Dr. Janes Dies

Harry Signs Desk Drawer For Museum

Independence, Mo. (AP)—The center drawer of a desk used in the White House by 10 presidents was autographed Wednesday by former President Harry S. Truman.

Truman added his signature to that of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower at the request of President Johnson. He used black ink to sign his name while Eisenhower had used a lead pencil.

The drawer was sent here by James R. Ketchum, curator of the White House. Upon its return to Washington, the drawer and desk will be on display at the new Smithsonian Institution's Museum of History and Technology.

Presidents Truman and Eisenhower used the desk exclusively and John F. Kennedy replaced it with a desk from the timbers of a British ship which had been presented to President Rutherford B. Hayes by Queen Victoria.

BULB SNATCHER WANTED TO SEE IF LIGHT LIT

The culprit, a boy of 11, was found climbing down an 80-foot light tower in a park. He had a 1500-watt light bulb in his hand.

Police asked why he took the bulb.

The boy said he wanted to see if it worked.

Algerian Envoy Says Ex-Premier Ben Bella Safe

Freetown, Sierra Leone (AP)—Former Algerian Premier Ahmed Ben Bella is alive and safe, an Algerian special envoy said Wednesday.

Mohammed Yazid said he did not expect Ben Bella's trial on charges alleging treason to take place for some time. He did not elaborate.

Dave Stevens, 68, Veteran Cozad Newsman, Dies

He had suffered a heart attack earlier in the day.

Mr. Stevens had been active in the operation of the Cozad weekly newspaper, the Local, most of his adult life. He became its editor after returning from World War 1 and publisher in the mid 1940s.

In 1956 he stepped down and his son, David Jr., took the helm of the newspaper. However, the older man remained active in its operation.

He was also active in civic and American Legion affairs.

Funeral services were tentatively set for 10 a.m. Friday at the Berryman Funeral Home in Cozad. Survivors include his wife, Genevieve; three sons, David Jr., Allen of Indio, Calif., and Sam of Omaha; and a sister Mrs. Troy Berryman of Cozad.

Consumers Operations Growing

Columbus (UPI) — The Consumers Public Power District reported growth in most areas of operation in a 12-month analysis of district operations released Wednesday.

The report by R. W. Beck and Associates of Columbus covered the 12 months ending June 30.

It showed that residential customers continued to be the largest users of Consumers power, using 434.8 million kilowatt-hours (KWH) during the period, an increase of 7.6% over the previous year.

The next largest users of electricity were commercial uses, with 364.1 million KWH over the 12 months, an increase of 6.9%.

Other large users were industries with 236.9 million KWH, up 5.9%; municipalities with 163 million KWH, up 9%; and rural with 80.5 million KWH, an increase of 9.1%.

Total KWH usage for the 12 months was 1,435.2 million, an increase of 6.6% over the previous 12 months.

Operating revenues for the consolidated eastern system and western system of Consumers amounted to $26,853,837, an increase of 5.7%. Operating expenses increase 7.1%, the report said.

Accruals for payments in lieu of taxes for the 12-month period amounted to $1,152,804 for the eastern and western systems, compared to $1,105,310 for the previous year.

Freshmen Will Begin Moving Into NU Halls

About half of all new students at the University of Nebraska will begin moving into residence halls and organized houses Sept. 8, according to Lee W. Chatfield, associate dean of student affairs.

Incoming freshmen, part of the estimated 14,500 students expected on the university campuses this fall, will meet Thursday and Friday with advisors.

Chatfield said nearly half of all new students will not have to be on the campus until Sept. 9, as a result of streamlined registration procedures made possible for those who attended a summer orientation program.

Classes for all students begin Sept. 13.

Consumers Operations Growing

Columbus (UPI) — The Consumers Public Power District reported growth in most areas of operation in a 12-month analysis of district operations released Wednesday.

The report by R. W. Beck and Associates of Columbus covered the 12 months ending June 30.

It showed that residential customers continued to be the largest users of Consumers power, using 434.8 million kilowatt-hours (KWH) during the period, an increase of 7.6% over the previous year.

The next largest users of electricity were commercial uses, with 364.1 million KWH over the 12 months, an increase of 6.9%.

Other large users were industries with 236.9 million KWH, up 5.9%; municipalities with 163 million KWH, up 9%; and rural with 80.5 million KWH, an increase of 9.1%.

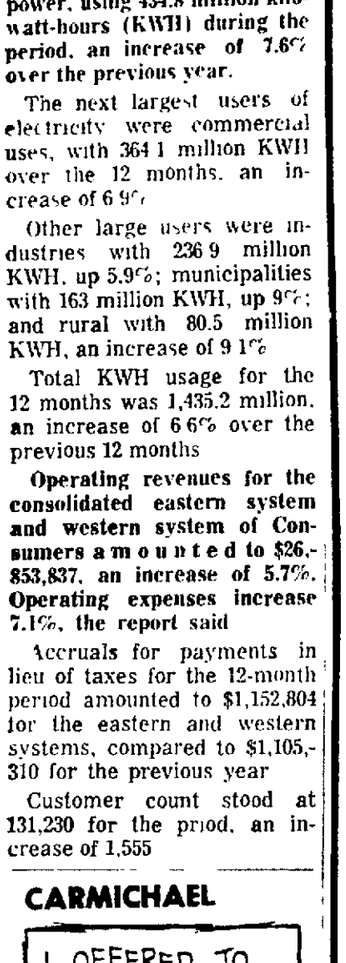

Total KWH usage for the 12 months was 1,435.2 million, an increase of 6.6% over the previous 12 months.

Operating revenues for the consolidated eastern system and western system of Consumers amounted to $26,853,837, an increase of 5.7%. Operating expenses increase 7.1%, the report said.

Accruals for payments in lieu of taxes for the 12-month period amounted to $1,152,804 for the eastern and western systems, compared to $1,105,310 for the previous year.

Freshmen Will Begin Moving Into NU Halls

About half of all new students at the University of Nebraska will begin moving into residence halls and organized houses Sept. 8, according to Lee W. Chatfield, associate dean of student affairs.

Incoming freshmen, part of the estimated 14,500 students expected on the university campuses this fall will meet Thursday and Friday with advisors.

Chatfield said nearly half of all new students will not have to be on the campus until Sept. 9, as a result of streamlined registration procedures made possible for those who attended a summer orientation program.

Classes for all students begin Sept. 13.
